LBJ Now Plans Major Asian Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) —President Johnson is expanding his trip to the Manila conference into a major Asian tour with visits to New Zealand, Australia, Thailand, Malaysia, and South Korea, as well as the Philippines.

Johnson's plans were disclosed today by governments of several of the Asian nations. There was no immediate word from the White House, but the President scheduled an afternoon news conference that was expected to bring his confirmation of the announcements from abroad.

The news conference was set for 3 p.m. EDT.

The official visits to the five nations will be sandwiched around the Oct. 24-25 Manila meeting of chiefs of state of the seven countries with troops fighting Communists in South Viet Nam.

Johnson plans to visit New Zealand Oct. 19-20 and then fly to Australia, before attending the Manila meeting. New Zealand Prime Minister Keith J. Holyoake announced in Wellington.

Australian Prime Minister Harold Holt said Johnson would visit his country Oct. 20-22.

Holyoake said Johnson had mapped an itinerary that "will bring him to New Zealand and then on to Australia, Thailand, Malaysia, and South Korea as well as to the Philippines conference on Viet Nam."

In Kuala Lumpur, the Malaysian government said both President and Mrs. Johnson would visit that country Oct. 30-31. It was the first official mention that Mrs. Johnson would accompany her husband on his Far Eastern trip.

The Thai government's announcement said Johnson's visit to that country—which borders wartorn South Viet Nam—would come after the Manila conference, but a date was not given immediately.

In Seoul, President Chung Hee Park's secretary said Johnson would spend three days in South Korea, Oct. 31-Nov. 2.

The White House obviously was showing deference to desires of other Pacific nations to have the privilege of announcing visits from the American President.

Since the conference was announced 10 days ago, there has been broad speculation that as long as Johnson was so far out in the Pacific he would visit such other friendly nations as Australia, New Zealand and South Korea. And diplomatic officials have suggested there might be even more stops.

The White House obviously was showing deference to desires of other Pacific nations to have the privilege of announcing visits from the American president. Australian newspapers today were displaying stories that Canberra expected a Johnson call.

The additional stops on the swing into the Pacific are expected to be more in the nature of goodwill missions than business calls. The business will come at Manila, mainly.

Philippines President Ferdinand E. Marcos disclosed in a Honolulu speech Sept. 26 that he had invited the chiefs of state of the United States, Australia, New Zealand, South Korea, South Viet Nam and Thailaind to meet with him in Mamila to "review the prospects for a peaceful settlement of the conflict" in Viet Nam.

Itinerary Announced For President's Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here is the itinerary for President Johnson's Far Eastern tour, as outlined by the Southeast Asian governments involved:

New Zealand, Oct. 19-20.
Australia, Oct. 20-22.
The Philippines, Oct. 24-25 (summit conference).
Malaysia, Oct. 30-31.
South Korea, Oct. 31-Nov. 2.

In addition, the government of Thailand said Johnson would visit that country during his tour, but announced no date.

During Campaign Tour

Rhodes Stresses County Projects

Gov. James A. Rhodes declared that his administration "cares about Columbiana County" and presented figures to support his claim as he addressed a Republican party breakfast in the Salem Memorial Building today.

As for the future, he expressed special interest in the establishment of an area airport capable of meeting the needs of modern industry and in the achievement of a higher education program within 30 miles of every boy and girl.

THE GOVERNOR, in a campaign swing through Columbiana County in his bid for reelection, declared that the county has received $3,754,154 from the state in non - highway capital improvements since he assumed office in January, 1963.

Brief stops were made in the Diamond and at Wellsville as the Rhodes caravan headed for an appearance later in the day at Steubenville.

Among county improvements Rhodes listed: $2,278,896 in school building assistance; $1,040,530 for Beaver Creek State Park and Highlandtown Lake; $85,000 for Guilford Lake State Reserve, and $100,000 for county airport development.

He added that his administration has spent $7,800,000 for new and improved highways in the county and that $37,300,000 more is committed for highway construction and improvements.

Declaring that the principal aim of his administration is to "stand between the tax spenders and the taxpayers," Rhodes credited the policies of his administration with stimulating industrial development throughout the state. He said since April 1963 the Columbiana County economy has benefitted from more than 1,900 jobs. He added that since 1963, the county has profited from the addition of 18 new manufacturing firms, 31 manufacturing expansions and a total of $11,722,000 in new capital investments by manufacturers. He also noted that the unemployment rate has declined from 4.7 per cent of the civilian labor force in April 1963 to 3.5 per cent. He added that the Ohio Development Department is now working with 44 companies interested in locating in this area.

STRESSING the employment needs of young people, Rhodes said more than 1,000 Ohio youths hit the job market every Monday and that 55,000 new jobs are needed in the state every year.

He said "these youths want to be a part of things, they want dignity and decency, not just be a number in a federal program." He pointed out that 50 per cent of Ohio's unemploy-

Compromise Being Sought On Aid Fund

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate and House conferees meet today to seek a compromise on their respective foreign aid outlays, both well below President Johnson's request.

The President had asked $3.4 billion. The House voted a $3.09-billion appropriation. And the Senate Wednesday voted $2.93 billion.

Before passing its version Wednesday by a vote of 52 to 22, the Senate trimmed $110 million out of the measure, most of it military aid.

Leading the cutback effort was longtime foreign aid foe Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La. He said about $48 million of the cut would prevent resumption of military aid to India and Pakistan. It also would halt sales on credit of American arms to developing nations.

"I don't see how the Senate can vote to provide funds for military equipment to Pakistan and India," Ellender told the Senate. "All of us were astounded when India and Pakistan engaged in war and used military equipment on both sides marked 'made in the U.S.A.'"

Fund Drive Kicked Off

Pledges Hit $21,500 In First Report

Leaders Emphasize Responsibility Of Residents In Drive

East Liverpool's 1967 United Fund campaign geared into action Wednesday night during a kickoff meeting at which $21,500 in pledges was announced.

Forty industrial, business and fund organization leaders attended the dinner event at the Vagabond Lodge near West Point.

James McGowan, campaign chairman, and Sidney C. Porter Jr., industrial division chairman, outlined preparations for the drive for $125,000 — an increase of $10,000 over 1966 — to serve 16 area agencies.

Porter, member of the U.F. executive board, emphasized "the responsibility to the community for everyone to support the agencies."

He said the dollars invested in the agencies, which serve young people, the handicapped and the needy, is less than would be required for tax money should these services have to be handled by governmental organizations.

McGowan said, "Helping keep youngsters in health and recreational programs is better than having to pay for caring for juvenile delinquents or rehabilitation."

McGowan said he is confident the goal will be met by residents of the district interested in their community duty.

McGown was introduced by Richard Emmerling, past U. F. president, who spoke on behalf of Frank C. Dawson, president, who was unable to attend.

Drive envelopes, instructions and promotion materials were distributed.

Both McGowan and Porter emphasized the importance of the payroll deduction system of support, enabling a wide range of area residents to help bear the "fair share" of aiding the agencies.

The drive will serve four new agencies — the Little Potter Basketball League, Little League, Pony League and Colt League baseball.

Other agencies include Boy Scouts, East Liverpool Area Camp Fire Girls, Northern Hancock County Girl Scouts, Recreation Council, YMCA, Salvation Army, United Service Organizations (USO), Red Cross, BPW Clinic, Child Counseling Center, United Cerebral Palsy and Catholic Charities.

U.F. DRIVE LEADERS. Preparations for the month-long United Fund campaign for $125,000 were completed during a kickoff session Wednesday night. Left to right, seated, are Sidney Porter, industrial division chairman; James McGowan, campaign chairman, and William Hutchman, Mercantile B chairman, and standing, W. E. Williams, public service division chairman; Robert Hocking, who will assist Hutchman in the East End; Joseph Hutchinson, public affairs division, and Frank A. Dawson, Mercantile A chairman.

Rusk Confers With 2 More Red Officials

Seeking To Break Deadlock Blocking Viet Peace Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk confers with two more Iron Curtain foreign ministers today in an intensified effort to break the deadlock blocking peace talks on Viet Nam.

Rusk entertained Foreign Minister Corneliu Manescu of Romania at dinner Wednesday night, but an American source said the Romanian did not indicate any change in North Viet Nam's position.

Today Rusk was to meet with Foreign Minister Vaclav David of Czechoslovakia and Janos Peter of Hungary.

U.S. peace efforts got a boost Wednesday when U.N. Secretary-General U Thant made known he is again taking an active hand in trying to move the war from the battlefield to the bargaining table.

Thant lunched with Rusk Wednesday and they reportedly discussed the meeting between the secretary-general and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko on Monday.

Diplomatic informants said representatives of Algeria, Cambodia and the United Arab Republic had asked Thant to resume his efforts to get a negotiated settlement. These three countries could be expected to relay any fresh initiatives by the secretary-general to Hanoi.

Thant was understood to be urging Gromyko to encourage the North Vietnamese to explore the possibility of negotiations and the United States to make some gesture that might encourage Hanoi to respond. But Rusk told newsmen after he lunched with Thant that the secretary-general's private efforts for peace in Viet Nam were not discussed.

Two Women Injured As Car Leaves Road

Two women were injured slightly when the car in which they were riding struck an embankment on Saline Township Rd. 51, a half-mile east of Route 213, in Jefferson County Wednesday at 7:50 a.m., according to the Wintersville State Highway Patrol.

Officers said Constance J. McCourt, 20, of Irondale R. D. 1 was driving east down grade and around a curve when the car skidded in slag, went off the right side and hit the embankment.

She suffered a bump on the chin. A passenger, Gladys Shannon, 42, of Bergholz, suffered abrasions of the right arm and a bump on the head.

OK Indicated On Funds For School Work

Board Directed By State To Call For Bids For Plumbing

East Liverpool school officials have received word from a state agency that indicates the city's proposed school building program may be nearing approval.

Supt. Paul Blair said the Ohio Controlling Board has directed the Board of Education to advertise immediately for bids on plumbing in the proposed new high school.

Bids on all other phases of construction of the high school and three new elementary buildings were opened last week, but no bid was received for the high school plumbing.

The bids were forwarded to Ohio Supt. Martin Essex at Columbus for study. The next step would be action by the Ohio Board of Education. If approval is received here, the Ohio Controlling Board then would be directed to release the funds.

The controlling board has directed local officials to seek bids and open them at noon Oct. 18. It asked that the low bid figure be submitted immediately for consideration at its meeting Oct. 19 in Columbus. The State Board of Education will meet next Monday.

School officials here said they consider the development a good indication that the money is forthcoming for the program.

The construction will exceed $4.5 million and additional aid is being sought from the state. Part of the available funds are being provided from a local bond issue and the remainder by the state, but the amount now available is not enough to cover the total bid price.

State 'Rests' In Wellsville Robbery Trial

Employe Of Market Tells How Two Men Got Money Jan. 2

Mrs. Thelma Peterson told a Common Pleas Court jury at Lisbon Wednesday how two men robbed her Jan. 2 at the 12th St. Market in Wellsville, where she worked.

Pointing toward the defense table, she indicated Timothy Galloway as the man who pulled a gun on her and tied her up with a rope "like a venetian blind cord."

The pair got approximately $1,400—receipts of New Year's weekend — from the cash register and unlocked safe. Police were unable to obtain any fingerprints.

Galloway, 23, of R. D. 3 Waynesburg, Pa., is the only defendant. He was not arrested until May 3 when Mrs. Peterson recognized him in the store. He has been confined to the County Jail since.

Prosecuting Atty. J. Warren Bettis and Assistant James D. Primm Jr. rested the state's case at 9:10 a.m. today on the testimony of Chief of Police John Hephner of Wellsville.

He said he heard Officer Edwin James question Galloway at the Columbiana County Jail May 10 and Galloway said he went into the store May 8 to talk to the woman about making restitution for the Jan. 2 robbery.

300 Prisoners Taken In 5 Days

66 Viet Cong Surrender To U.S., Allied Forces

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A unit of 66 Viet Cong soldiers surrendered en masse today as American, Korean and South Vietnamese forces closed in on an encircled, fragmented Communist force on the central coast.

The wholesale surrender raised to about 300 the number of prisoners taken by the combined allied force in five days of operation. It was probably the war's biggest bag of prisoners, and in addition the allied forces claimed nearly 550 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed in the pincer operation north of Qui Nhon.

To the north just below the demilitarized zone, U.S. Marines braved a hail of Communist grenades and waded in ankle-deep mud Wednesday to capture the last hill along a four-mile ridge they had been clearing of North Vietnamese for 15 days.

Marine casualties were described as light, but three 90mm tank shells fired in support of the Leathernecks fell short, killing three Marines and wounding seven others in the base camp for the operation.

The Marine operations below the demilitarized zone for the second time in two weeks pushed American combat casualties last week above those of South Vietnamese forces al-

To the north just below the demilitarized zone, U.S. Marines braved a hail of Communist grenades and waded in ankle-deep mud Wednesday to capture the last hill along a four-mile ridge they had been clearing of North Vietnamese for 15 days.

Marine casualties were described as light, but three 90mm tank shells fired in support of the Leathernecks tell short, killing three Marines and wounding seven others in the base camp for the operation.

State 'Rests' In Wellsville Robbery Trial

Employe Of Market Tells How Two Men Got Money Jan. 2

Mrs. Thelma Peterson told a Common Pleas Court jury at Lisbon Wednesday how two men robbed her Jan. 2 at the 12th St. Market in Wellsville, where she worked.

Pointing toward the defense table, she indicated Timothy Galloway as the man who pulled a gun on her and tied her up with a rope "like a venetian blind cord."

The pair got approximately $1,400—receipts of New Year's weekend — from the cash register and unlocked safe. Police were unable to obtain any fingerprints.

Galloway, 23, of R. D. 3 Waynesburg, Pa., is the only defendant. He was not arrested until May 8 when Mrs. Peterson recognized him in the store. He has been confined to the County Jail since.

Prosecuting Atty. J. Warren Bettis and Assistant James D. Primm Jr. rested the state's case at 9:10 a.m. today on the testimony of Chief of Police John Hephner of Wellsville.

He said he heard Officer Edwin James question Galloway at the Columbiana County Jail May 10 and Galloway said he went into the store May 8 to talk to the woman about making restitution for the Jan. 2 robbery.

Optimism Based On 3 Factors

Goldwater Sees Bright Future For Conservatism

NEW YORK (AP) — Barry Goldwater predicts a bright future for conservatism.

He says he bases his optimism on three factors: growing conservative strength shown in primary elections in New York State, California and elsewhere; a tendency of conservative organizations to work together, and "the deep yearning of the American people for a rebirth of freedom in this land of the free."

Goldwater discussed conservatism and other issues Wednesday night in an extemporaneous speech before about 650 persons. It was the first speech in New York by the former Republican senator from Arizona since President Johnson swamped him in the 1964 election.

The gathering he addressed was the first East Coast rally of the Free Society Association, which he founded in June 1965 and of which he is honorary chairman.

Goldwater said conservatives should overcome individual conflicts and work together — "not a third party by any means, but working in the party of our choice, and I feel in this room it is the Republican party."

He contended, "there never was any competition in 1964 between conservatism and liberalism" because, he said, he could never get Johnson into debate.

On the Viet Nam issue, Goldwater said: "If we must increase the size of the war, we'll have a greater draft, possible calling up of the Reserve, and the National Guard. It will mean higher taxes, possible rationing cards, wage and price controls. I'd like to hear some one say something about that before Nov. 8."

Goldwater said President Johnson's greaty society goals will be achieved only "when everyone has been forced by government edict and control to live on the same level."

"Well, who wants it at that price?" he asked.

"Conservatives," he said, "naturally resist this leveling process, this attempt to make all human individuals mere cogs in one vast machine."

Fire Drills At Schools Are Completed Here

Fire drills in city schools were completed today, according to Fire Chief Alfred Van Dyne.

A drill was held this morning at Central School, the last building to be checked.

Van Dyne said all the schools have been inspected for fire hazards and a meeting will be held next week with school officials to list items which need attention.

War Is The Offender

The current move to draft some previously deferred men who have passed their 26th birthday provides an opening for new attacks on the Selective Service System.

Many have said the present system is shot through with inequities.

Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director, has complained that criticisms have been politically inspired.

The truth of the matter is the draft, in any form, will never be popular. No one wants to go to war.

George Washington's patience was sorely tried during the War of Independence when voluntary enlistments failed to produce an adequate army and Congress refused to enact legislation for more men.

During the War of 1812, Congress authorized an army only theoretically adequate to bring hostilities to a close in a reasonable time. Despite the offer of liberal bounties, a large enough volunteer army could not be recruited.

It was evident in 1862 that unsound recruiting policies depending on militia had crippled the North's war effort.

A conscription law was enacted in March 1863, two years after the Civil War began. There was no concerted resistance, but there were scattered protest outbreaks.

The Selective Service Act was signed May 18, 1917, and from it our present system has evolved.

The draft has been criticized during every war because it jerks men from the pursuit of happiness and trains them to be professional killers.

Our present draft law expires June 30, 1967. It will be extended, possibly with some changes.

It is something unpopular that has to be lived with because the only way to eliminate it is to eliminate war, an utter impossibility so far.

Not Ready For Government

Africa has given birth to two new independent nations at a time when Nigeria, which was to have been an example of unity for others, is steeped in a bloodbath.

The death toll in Nigeria has passed the 1,000 mark, and no issues have been settled.

The job of the 1,244,000 citizens of the two countries is dulled by what has happened to other new nations.

Belgium proclaimed the independence of the Congo June 30, 1960. Two days later, tribal fighting erupted.

The Mali Federation, which was to unite four French African states, Dahomey, Senegal, Sudan and Upper Volta, fell apart before it could get together.

After a constitution was drafted, Dahomey and Upper Volta pulled out partly because they feared submergence, partly because of anti-federalist pressure.

Senegal and Sudan went ahead with the merger, which lasted just two months. Senegal withdrew because of a split over filling two top posts.

United in Nigeria had two strikes against it from the start. The country has more than 250 tribal groups speaking 400 different languages and dialects. Fourteen million of its 35 million people are Moslems, seven million Christians and 14 million pagans.

Local interests take priority over national unity. Tribal unity is a heritage. Nationalism is unknown.

In Liberia, a compromise solution giving chiefs of inland areas local jurisdiction has been worked out. Tribal law is sanctioned as long as it does not interfere with national programs.

Ethiopia has found a government patterned after medieval monarchy still works.

It has become apparent that new nations are not ready for parliamentary democracy because tribesmen have had no political training.

It's On The Way!

It has started.

The first major snowstorm of the season has clobbered parts of Colorado and Wyoming.

From now until that last patch of white melts and sinks slowly beneath the new spring carpet of green, we will be struggling with the elements or sympathizing with those who are.

We will be moaning with Montana, whining with Wisconsin, muttering with Minnesota and puckering with Pennsylvania.

When all is calm elsewhere, we will have our own troubles to contend with.

There will be bone-chilling, below-zero temperatures with icy blasts of wind and the usual frustrating, nauseating, back-breaking ice and snow.

Brrrrrrrrrr! No wonder bears hibernate.

Short-Distance Transportation

The most significant thing about the possibility electric autos may come back is the place in transportation they would occupy.

If their feasibility can be proved by experiments now in progress, electric vehicles would be short-distance transportation. They would be suitable for in-town use. Their speed range would be limited to perhaps a high of only 40 m.p.h. Their distance range would be no more than 150 miles.

Their use in this fashion, with apologies to this bustling age, recalls the excellent use made of horses at an earlier time, when delivery vehicles were powered by single horses and teams. Even after the automotive era was well on the way, horse-drawn bakery wagons, milk wagons and ice wagons were still in common use.

They were ideal short-distance transportation. Their power units could be "recharged" during the night in a snug barn. Had it not been for steel tires still in common use, the horse-powered delivery unit would have been noiseless. The upkeep was low, the original cost not overwhelming.

About that same time, another form of short-distance and middle-distance transportation was still on the scene—the electric street car. They, too, were noisier than they were later when rubber-tired wheels came into limited use.

But meanwhile motor vehicles were coming into vogue. Internal combustion engines knocked out trolley cars and electric autos, as well as the faithful horse.

Now, under the rule that the only thing which never changes is change, itself, there is a revival of interest in electric autos. Transportation experts are trying to re-invent self-powered street cars for middle-distance transportation.

Anyone want to bet the horse won't come back?

Peace Straws

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Here is a brief ABC on the talk about how to get talks started about peace in Viet Nam. So far it has produced nothing.

Still, the world tingles every time one side or the other seems to yield a bit or uses one word instead of another.

Each side has two sides in this war: The United States and its ally, South Viet Nam; North Viet Nam and its agents, the Viet Cong guerillas, who have an organization, or mouthpiece, called the National Liberation Front.

On March 22, 1965, the NLF declared all negotiations useless unless it had a "decisive" say. The word "decisive" got a lot of attention later.

Then on April 8, 1965, North Viet Nam laid down four conditions for peace. It didn't say they had to be met before peace talks began. But it didn't say they didn't. That's caused wondering ever since.

ONE OF THE points said the South Vietnamese would have to settle their problems "in accordance with the programs" of the NLF. It didn't say the NLF would have to be the "decisive" voice, but it certainly seemed to imply that.

From then until now North Viet Nam and the NLF haven't budged an inch. Any yielding after that seemed to be done by the United States.

At first this country, through Secretary of State Dean Rusk, appeared to brush aside the role of the NLF.

He said the United States was willing to hold discussions with the NLF, but it couldn't be a primary part in the negotiations.

He said on Feb. 25, 1965, the United States would not enter negotiations until North Viet Nam gave some "indication" it was prepared to stop what it was doing. That word "indication" got a lot of attention later, too.

And on March 13, 1965, President Johnson backed up Rusk by saying North Viet Nam must halt intervention in South Viet Nam as a precondition for negotiations.

But then on April 7 he seemed — in diplomacy everything isn't what it looks like — to reverse both himself and Rusk by announcing this country was ready to enter "unconditional" discussions about peace.

But at the moment he said it he laid down a condition. He said the essential part of any discussion would be an independent South Viet Nam. What about the "decisive" voice of the NLF if it wanted all Viet Nam unified?

SO IT WENT, month after month, with neither side adding enlightenment.

Then on Sept. 22, 1966, Arthur Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, caused a lot of buzzing. He said the bombing of North Viet Nam would be stopped if Hanoi gave some "assurance" it would cut down its war-making.

The fact that the United States was now only asking Hanoi for "assurance" rather than an "indication" it would let up a bit stirred up swarms of diplomats but not for any very intelligent reason.

Optimists fastened on the notion that the United States was softening its demands by using "assurance" instead of "indication" although if anyone but an optimist examines them they seem to mean the same.

The Communists brushed it all aside. And then North Viet Nam caused a flurry although North Viet Nam must have been surprised that it did. Again the optimists went to work.

North Viet Nam said the NLF should be a "decisive" voice in speaking for South Viet Nam. Was this a little softening in North Viet Nam's position?

Hardly, if anyone kept a record of all this chatter on both sides for he would have remembered the NLF back on March 22, 1965, said all negotiations would be useless unless the NLF had a "decisive" say.

And that's where it stands right now, so far as the public knows.

This 'n That

Besides their fruit, some kinds of banana plants produce a useful fiber. The leaves of certain kinds are used to roof houses or to make mats, bags and baskets.

Vientiane, capital of Laos, looks more like a country town than a national capital city. Ox carts creak along its streets, water buffaloes wallow in pools fringing gardens and rice fields and the largest buildings, except for a few government offices, are Buddhist temples.

Unions Have Own Joint Chiefs

By Victor Reisel

WASHINGTON, D.C. — There's been an "Annie Get Your Gun" spirit behind the scenes of battle between the General Electric Co. and the general labor movement. In the old musical Miss Annie Oakley bellows, "Anything you can do I can do better."

Victor Riesel

That's been the slogan of labor's virtually unknown joint chiefs of staff as they coordinated some 250 local unions for the struggle with giants of the electrical and electronic and moon-probing and jet production industry.

What the laborite joint chiefs had to do was to match the companies' wizardry in intra-plant communications and develop a singleness and discipline among literally thousands of officials in hundreds of locals belonging to national unions which have been feuding with each other on some issues for years.

It was accomplished. Mr. Labor, George Meany, stepped into actual collective bargaining strategy talks for the first time in his long history. He has been the "honest broker" at the height of many a crisis. He has been telephoned by scores of business leaders and government officials, including presidents way back to Harry Truman.

THIS IS THE FIRST time he has actually been in on the beginning of an assault which led to a crisis. He welded the joint chiefs of staff.

It is permanent. The strategy is permanent—for scores of battles to come with major industries. The joint chiefs in turn developed a centralized communications system to cover 17 regions, 148 local unions at GE and 85 at Westinghouse.

It matched the brilliant GE operation. There is the story — far more vital to the nation than even the feuding over wages, stock option plans, insurance and cost of living.

This story marks the beginning of a new era.

One can consider it began last March during a strategy session in the Philip Murray Building on 16th St. which houses the International Union of Electrical Workers here.

To this skull session had come the labor movement's "anonymous" cadres of specialists. After some discussion, one chap said dolefully that the sprawling network of disparate and often disserting locals could never hope to match GE's fantastically swift and fabulously well-informed intra-plant communications system.

HUNDREDS OF PLANT MANAGERS and other executives in scores of installations learn within minutes what has been happening anywhere in the company via GE's wizardries.

How, asked the labor official, thinking of 148 GE locals and 85 Westinghouse unions and 180,000 members, can GE be matched?

From the "anonymous" Al Zack (AFL-CIO director of public relations), once a newsman himself, came: "Anything GE can do we can do." He did not say "better." But the crowd in the room got the idea.

In two unused rooms in the building's third floor rear they set up a central communications system with public relations merely an adjunct.

Then they sought headquarters across the land, in each of the 17 regions into which they had divided the territory. In five sectors they found that Walter Reuther's auto union had TWX setups. This left them 12 cities wide open.

SOON THE "TELEX" SYSTEM was nailed down. Then this was hooked up to the two rooms in the Philip Murray Building.

In charge was one of George Meany's aides, AFL-CIO publicist Ken Feister. With him worked Jerry Dale of Reuther's staff. The two teletypes rattled constantly with information from around the country.

This came from coordinators in each of the 17 districts. They in turn got their reports from the many locals in those regions. In turn, the local leaders got their information from stewards, etc., in the plants themselves. Then up the electrical grapevine it went — 14 hours a day until the final weekend when the machines were manned around the clock.

Thus the steering committee knew what was happening every minute. The information was digested and fed back to the regional coordinators who relayed it to their local officials — who then could bargain with the local GE executives with fresh intelligence on tap. In the past the local unionists did not get the details of what was happening elsewhere in the company — not for weeks anyway.

NOT THE LEAST STARTLING of this new type of labor offensive is the nature of the steering committee — men such as Eddie Carlough Jr. of the usually detached sheet metal workers; specialists such as Jim Ogden of the auto workers and Marie Downey of the insular International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. And of course the special representatives of George Meany.

It is indeed the NATO of American labor. And there does not seem to be a DeGaulle in the crowd.

Unity is the thing. Centralized command is the thing. There you really have the story of future massive showdowns on the labor front.

Odd Facts

The ballots are burned if no agreement is reached in the election of a pope. Straw is burned with them to color the smoke black. It is not until the crowd outside sees white smoke issuing from the chimney of the Sistine Chapel that it knows that a choice has been made.

Among the Andamanese in the Republic of India, tree burial is an honorable form of burial adopted in the case of a man or woman dying in the prime of life. The coffin is placed upon a platform in a tree, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Soviet Openly Admits War Role

The Soviet Union readily admits it is virtually in a state of war with this country, but the United States prefers not to recognize such a condition in any formal way.

The latest revelation — published in the Soviet press — says explicitly that the Soviet Union has sent officers and enlisted men to North Viet Nam to instruct in the use of anti-aircraft missiles supplied by the Moscow government.

Some United States aircraft have been shot down while Russians were on duty at launching sites, according to disclosures in Soviet newspapers, which are controlled by the Moscow government.

The Department of State, when asked to comment, said it had been "assumed all along" that Russia had provided technical specialists to help fire anti-aircraft missiles in North Viet Nam. When asked whether the subject had been officially discussed between Washington and Moscow, the state department spokesman said he doubted it.

This is the second time in modern history that the Soviet Union has indirectly engaged in a war against other nations without being subjected to any disciplinary action either by the United Nations or by countries whose soldiers were being killed.

EVEN WHEN THE United Nations sent military forces to Korea in 1950, the Soviet Union brazenly announced a few months later at a U.N. General Assembly meeting that it had supplied arms and ammunition to the Red Chinese to fight American, British and other allied forces operating under the U.N. in Korea.

While the United Nations adopted a resolution denouncing Red China for aggression in Korea, it never took the Soviet Union to task for engaging in the Korean War.

American troops are again being killed by airplanes and other weapons furnished by the Soviets. This is the first time, however, that the Soviet government has acknowledged that its military personnel are participating in the Viet Nam War. Even though the function of Soviet technicians is described as "training," the missiles which are used to destroy American planes and strike down U.S. airmen are part of a war operation.

What will the United States do? Government officials apparently have been reluctant to ask Congress for a declaration of a "state of war" in Viet Nam, though this is the customary method of warning other countries to abstain from military participation.

The precedents of international law are clear—namely, that nations which are not co-belligerents should not be sending arms and ammunitions to help either side in a war. Once neutrality is violated, however, punitive measures are available. The United States, for instance, could sever diplomatic relations and cut off all trade with the Soviet Union.

The action of the Russians, moreover, in sending military equipment to Viet Nam, as well as officers and enlisted men, is in direct defiance of the Southeast Asia Collective Defense Treaty, which was adopted in October 1954 in conformity with the charter of the United Nations. It says:

"EACH PARTY RECOGNIZES that aggression by means of armed attack in the treaty area against any of the parties or against any state or territory which the parties by unanimous agreement may hereafter designate, would endanger its own peace and safety, and agrees that it will in that event act to meet the common danger in accordance with its constitutional processes."

The "treaty area" includes "the states of Cambodia and Laos and the free territory under the jurisdiction of the state of Viet Nam."

The Southeast Asia treaty was signed by Australia, France, New Zealand, Pakistan, the Philippines, Thailand, Great Britain and the United States. The United States and some of the other signatories have come to the aid of South Viet Nam at the invitation of the government in Saigon.

The precedents of international law plainly indict the Soviet Union as having taken a military action against the United States in Viet Nam.

The question now is whether the United States is going to press the matter before the United Nations and proclaim that any military assistance given to North Viet Nam is an act of war against the United States.

War Is The Offender

The current move to draft some previously deferred men who have passed their 26th birthday provides an opening for new attacks on the Selective Service System.

Many have said the present system is shot through with inequities.

Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director, has complained that criticisms have been politically inspired.

The truth of the matter is the draft, in any form, will never be popular. No one wants to go to war.

George Washington's patience was sorely tried during the War of Independence when voluntary enlistments failed to produce an adequate army and Congress refused to enact legislation for more men.

During the War of 1812, Congress authorized an army only theoretically adequate to bring hostilities to a close in a reasonable time. Despite the offer of liberal bounties, a large enough volunteer army could not be recruited.

It was evident in 1862 that unsound recruiting policies depending on militia had crippled the North's war effort.

A conscription law was enacted in March 1863, two years after the Civil War began. There was no concerted resistance, but there were scattered protest outbreaks.

The Selective Service Act was signed May 18, 1917, and from it our present system has evolved.

The draft has been criticized during every war because it jerks men from the pursuit of happiness and trains them to be professional killers.

Our present draft law expires June 30, 1967. It will be extended, possibly with some changes.

It is something unpopular that has to be lived with because the only way to eliminate it is to eliminate war, an utter impossibility so far.

Not Ready For Government

Africa has given birth to two new independent nations at a time when Nigeria, which was to have been an example of unity for others, is steeped in a bloodbath.

The death toll in Nigeria has passed the 1,000 mark, and no issues have been settled.

The job of the 1,244,000 citizens of the two countries is dulled by what has happened to other new nations.

Belgium proclaimed the independence of the Congo June 30, 1960. Two days later, tribal fighting erupted.

The Mali Federation, which was to unite four French African states, Dahomey, Senegal, Sudan and Upper Volta, fell apart before it could get together.

After a constitution was drafted, Dahomey and Upper Volta pulled out partly because they feared submergence, partly because of anti-federalist pressure.

Senegal and Sudan went ahead with the merger, which lasted just two months. Senegal withdrew because of a split over filling two top posts.

United in Nigeria had two strikes against it from the start. The country has more than 250 tribal groups speaking 400 different languages and dialects. Fourteen million of its 35 million people are Moslems, seven million Christians and 14 million pagans.

Local interests take priority over national unity. Tribal unity is a heritage. Nationalism is unknown.

In Liberia, a compromise solution giving chiefs of inland areas local jurisdiction has been worked out. Tribal law is sanctioned as long as it does not interfere with national programs.

Ethiopia has found a government patterned after medieval monarchy still works.

It has become apparent that new nations are not ready for parliamentary democracy because tribesmen have had no political training.

It's On The Way!

It has started.

The first major snowstorm of the season has clobbered parts of Colorado and Wyoming.

From now until that last patch of white melts and sinks slowly beneath the new spring carpet of green, we will be struggling with the elements or sympathizing with those who are.

We will be moaning with Montana, whining with Wisconsin, muttering with Minnesota and puckering with Pennsylvania.

When all is calm elsewhere, we will have our own troubles to contend with.

There will be bone-chilling, below-zero temperatures with icy blasts of wind and the usual frustrating, nauseating, back-breaking ice and snow.

Brrrrrrrrrr! No wonder bears hibernate.

Short-Distance Transportation

The most significant thing about the possibility electric autos may come back is the place in transportation they would occupy.

If their feasibility can be proved by experiments now in progress, electric vehicles would be short-distance transportation. They would be suitable for in-town use. Their speed range would be limited to perhaps a high of only 40 m.p.h. Their distance range would be no more than 150 miles.

"EACH PARTY RECOGNIZES that aggression by means of armed attack in the treaty area against any of the parties or against any state or territory which the parties by unanimous agreement may hereafter designate, would endanger its own peace and safety, and agrees that it will in that event act to meet the common danger in accordance with its constitutional processes."

The "treaty area" includes "the states of Cambodia and Laos and the free territory under the jurisdiction of the state of Viet Nam."

The Southeast Asia treaty was signed by Australia, France, New Zealand, Pakistan, the Philippines, Thailand, Great Britain and the United States. The United States and some of the other signatories have come to the aid of South Viet Nam at the invitation of the government in Saigon.

The precedents of international law plainly indict the Soviet Union as having taken a military action against the United States in Viet Nam.

The question now is whether the United States is going to press the matter before the United Nations and proclaim that any military assistance given to North Viet Nam is an act of war against the United States.

Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — O. C. Reynolds of Chester was appointed justice of the peace for Grant District by the Hancock County Court.

The Kairos Club, comprised of men of the 1936 graduating class of East Liverpool High School was organized, with Richard Persohn temporary chairman.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lawyer, formerly of Hammondsville, moved to Steubenville.

Edna and Isabel Clouse of Gaston Pl. attended the eighth annual state convention of Delta Kappa Gamma Sorority in Canton.

TEN YEARS AGO — Miss Kay Wehner daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wehner of Florida Ave., Chester, was crowned homecoming football queen of Chester High School.

Mrs. John Prosser was welcomed as a new member of the Berean Class of the Second Presbyterian Church.

It hardly seems likely that the Soviet Union's participation in the Viet Nam war will continue to be ignored by the American government.

Inez Bounces Off Cuba, Roaring Toward Mexico

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Glancing off Cuba, where she claimed three more victims, Hurricane Inez roared on across the Gulf of Mexico today toward a possible collision with the Yucatan Peninsula, ancient home of the Maya Indians.

Forecasters said Inez, in the 13th day of her tempestuous travels through the Western Hemisphere, might crawl along the north coast of the peninsula, hurling 110-mile-an-hour winds inland over the dense tropic jungles.

Or she might strike inland, through the ruins of a remarkable Mayan civilization built shortly after the death of Christ, to reach the important city of Merida, with its 170,000 residents.

With one last vicious blow at Cuba, Inez damaged the tobacco crop, source of Havana cigars. In her earlier sweep across the eastern part of the Communist island, she had laid waste to sugar fields.

On the northwest coast, as the storm passed Wednesday night, Havana Radio said two persons were electrocuted and another drowned, bringing the storm's announced death toll in Cuba to four. Hundreds were injured during her previous visit.

Inez is known to have killed more than 150 persons in the Caribbean and possibly many more in Haiti.

A ricochet blow at the Yucatan Peninsula might send Inez reeling on across the Gulf of Mexico toward the main body of Mexico.

The peninsula, which juts up into the Gulf of Mexico to split it off from the Caribbean, is owned partly by Mexico. The southeast corner is occupied by British Honduras and a part of Guatemala.

Early today, Inez was about 275 miles west-southwest of Key West, Fla., and 150 miles northeast of Yucatan.

Two persons were injured when a building collapsed in downtown Havana during a torrential rain Wednesday night. A barge was reported to have sunk in the harbor.

Heavy flooding was reported in the Havana area where 18,000 persons fled their homes and water was reported waist-deep in some houses near the swollen Almendares River, which flows through the heart of the Cuban capital.

The radio said 905 persons were evacuated from Guanabo Beach, near Havana, when the Guanabo River spilled over its banks. The U.S. National Hurricane Center said Havana reported more than 12 inches of rain during a 30-hour period ended Wednesday night.

After leaving the Florida Keys Wednesday, Inez sideswiped Cuba, marking the economically-shaky Communist country's third session with the erratic storm.

Last week, Inez struck Cuba twice, flattening crops and leaving hundreds homeless.

The storm, lashing Cuba's western tip as it moved southwest to west-southwest, moved almost parallel to Cuba's northwestern coastline Wednesday night. It could reach Mexico Friday.

Pennsylvania's Assembly Begins Extended Recess

HARRISBURG (AP) — Proposed legislation aimed at protecting the consumer was the only major piece of unfinished business before the general assembly today as lawmakers began an extended recess to campaign for re-election.

Both the House and Senate quit after Wednesday's session, scheduling their return for Nov. 14 unless sooner recalled. The election is Nov. 8.

Before leaving, House members unanimously approved a comprehensive mental health bill and sent it to Gov. Scranton for his signature. The measure, calling for establishment of local treatment centers, was passed 203-0.

Remaining to be acted upon is the consumer credit bill, which would prohibit hidden or excessive interest rates on installment sales. The House has refused to accept Senate amendments to the measure, sending it to a joint conference committee for a possible compromise.

Rep. James F. Clarke, chairman of the committee, said a meeting was tentatively scheduled for 10 a.m. Saturday in his office in Pittsburgh.

The committee, composed of three members from each chamber, will seek to resolve differences over the two versions of the bill passed by the House and Senate.

Senate Republicans already have agreed to a demand from House Democrats that a clause be inserted in the bill placing retail stores with out-of-state headquarters under the bill's control.

However, there remained other differences that could hold up final action on the legislation until after the election. In the meantime, it continued to be an issue in the gubernatorial campaign between Democrat Milton Shapp and Republican Raymond P. Shafer.

The mental health bill would provide a vast network of community-based services to treat mentally disabled persons near their homes. The program would cost the state $6 million in its initial stage.

A citizens group that promoted the legislation said its passage marked a major breakthrough in efforts to achieve adequate care for the mentally ill and mentally retarded.

"The state and counties will have to work together to provide tax funds, which, along with private dollars, will be needed to implement this legislation," said Richard T. Tyner, chairman of the statewide organization. "However, if the spirit continues which now exists among our county commissioners and state legislators, I am certain that the mentally disabled in Pennsylvania can look to the future with real reason to hope."

though American losses were less than the week before.

The U.S. command said 99 Americans were killed and 642 wounded during the week that ended last Saturday, compared with 87 killed and 268 wounded reported by the South Vietnamese. Other allied forces reported 16 men killed and 48 wounded, nearly double the toll the week before.

Enemy losses reported were also down, 1,104 killed last week compared with 1,208 the previous week.

The casualties last week brought the total number of Americans reported killed in the war to 5,401 and the wounded to 20,014. Totals reported for the year include 3,523 Americans killed, 6,859 South Vietnamese killed and 40,149 enemy dead.

The coastal campaign, Operation Irving, has become one of the most successful drives of the war.

Carrying safe conduct passes, the 66 battle-battered Viet Cong came through the lines to give themselves up to the 22nd South Vietnamese division holding the western flank of the allied encirclement. They apparently got the safe conduct passes in earlier allied leaflet drops on the mountains and mangrove swamps where the three-pronged operation started last Sunday.

The Marines captured Hill 484 after 15 days of clearing one hill after another along the ridge below the buffer zone between the two Viet Nams.

Before they fled down the north side of Hill 484, the North Vietnamese showered the Marines with grenades and automatic-weapons fire. The charging Leathernecks replied in kind and reported killing 10 North Vietnamese.

Ground action was slack elsewhere, and the American fighting men used the lull to listen to the live broadcast of the first game of the World Series.

U.S. tactical bombers flew 10 strikes against North Vietnamese positions inside the demilitarized zone Wednesday, touching off a series of secondary explosions and fires. The raids were made as it was disclosed that U.S. air attacks on the eastern end of the demilitarized zone have been halted in a 24 square mile area—about an eighth of the zone—to permit patrols of the International Control Commission to carry out inspections.

Tax Share Slated In Midland, Area

Midland and other Beaver County municipalities are scheduled to receive checks for their share of liquid fuels taxes collected by Pennsylvania for local road, street and bridge improvements.

The allotments include Midland $3,437; Ohioville $3,854; Industry $1,995; Georgetown $285; Glasgow $149; Hookstown $211; Shippingport $607; Greene Township $4,102; Hanover Township $5,704, and Raccoon Township $3,400.

The state's 2,559 municipalities were to get $10.8 million as their share of the funds.

Austria introduced postcards in 1896.

Trial

the interrogation, but there was no written or signed statement.

When defense witnesses were not available this morning, Judge Raymond S. Buzzare recessed the trial until 1 p. m.

Other witnesses for the state yesterday were Mrs. Frances Santimarino of 976 Main St., Wellsville, and James Pennington of 1767 Maple Ave., Wellsville.

She testified she went to the market for bread about 9:30 p.m. Jan. 2 and saw two men in the store and the woman clerk. She said one of the men kept staring at her and she "looked him right in the face." The other man had his back turned, she said. Mrs. Santimarino said she left the store when she saw there was no bread.

Pennington testified he entered the market about 8:30 p. m. May 8 and passed a man leaving the store. He pointed to Galloway as that man.

Both Mrs. Santimarino and Pennington identified Galloway in a lineup May 10 at the County Jail.

Mrs. Santimarino said she read a newspaper account of the robbery the next day and realized she must have been in the store while it was going on. She said she called police to say she could identify one of the men — "the description given was wrong."

James referred to notes to describe to the jury the description Mrs. Petersongave of the two men. They were in the 32-35 age range, medium height, one stocky and one slender, both had dark wavy hair and were clean shaven.

Officer James and Charles Amato conducted the investigation Jan. 2 and Amato apprehended Galloway May 8. Amato said he was answering Mrs. Peterson's call to the market when he passed a car driven by a man who kept watching him. The policeman said he noticed the car had Pennsylvania 10-day tags. A few minutes later at the market Amato looked out to see the same car go by, with the driver looking toward the store. This occurred again, Amato said, and he jumped into his car and pursued.

He stopped the Pennsylvania car within a few blocks. Since Amato was not in uniform, he said he informed the driver he was a policeman and wanted to question him.

"About what?" Amato said the driver asked. "I told him about an armed robbery."

Amato said the defendant got into Amato's car and kept saying, "It's ridiculous, I've never been in any trouble."

When they turned to the market, Amato said Mrs. Peterson came outside and signaled with a nod that Galloway was the suspect.

Other witnesses yesterday were Chief Deputy Sheriff Robert Beresford and Deputy James (Ronnie) Gause, who related how the County Jail lineup was arranged. Galloway was placed in a line with four prisoners, all dressed in street clothes.

though American losses were less than the week before.

The U.S. command said 99 Americans were killed and 642 wounded during the week that ended last Saturday, compared with 87 killed and 268 wounded reported by the South Vietnamese. Other allied forces reported 16 men killed and 48 wounded, nearly double the toll the week before.

Enemy losses reported were also down, 1,104 killed last week compared with 1,208 the previous week.

The casualties last week brought the total number of Americans reported killed in the war to 5,401 and the wounded to 20,014. Totals reported for the year include 3,523 Americans killed, 6,859 South Vietnamese killed and 40,149 enemy dead.

The coastal campaign, Operation Irving, has become one of the most successful drives of the war.

Carrying safe conduct passes, the 66 battle-battered Viet Cong came through the lines to give themselves up to the 22nd South Vietnamese division holding the western flank of the allied encirclement. They apparently got the safe conduct passes in earlier allied leaflet drops on the mountains and mangrove swamps where the three-pronged operation started last Sunday.

The Marines captured Hill 484 after 15 days of clearing one hill after another along the ridge below the buffer zone between the two Viet Nams.

Before they fled down the north side of Hill 484, the North Vietnamese showered the Marines with grenades and automatic-weapons fire. The charging Leathernecks replied in kind and reported killing 10 North Vietnamese.

Ground action was slack elsewhere, and the American fighting men used the lull to listen to the live broadcast of the first game of the World Series.

U.S. tactical bombers flew 10 strikes against North Vietnamese positions inside the demilitarized zone Wednesday, touching off a series of secondary explosions and fires. The raids were made as it was disclosed that U.S. air attacks on the eastern end of the demilitarized zone have been halted in a 24 square mile area—about an eighth of the zone—to permit patrols of the International Control Commission to carry out inspections.

The state's 2,559 municipalities were to get $10.8 million as their share of the funds.

Trial

the interrogation, but there was no written or signed statement.

When defense witnesses were not available this morning, Judge Raymond S. Buzzare recessed the trial until 1 p. m.

Other witnesses for the state yesterday were Mrs. Frances Santimarino of 976 Main St., Wellsville, and James Pennington of 1767 Maple Ave., Wellsville.

She testified she went to the market for bread about 9:30 p.m. Jan. 2 and saw two men in the store and the woman clerk. She said one of the men kept staring at her and she "looked him right in the face." The other man had his back turned, she said. Mrs. Santimarino said she left the store when she saw there was no bread.

Pennington testified he entered the market about 8:30 p. m. May 8 and passed a man leaving the store. He pointed to Galloway as that man.

Both Mrs. Santimarino and Pennington identified Galloway in a lineup May 10 at the County Jail.

Mrs. Santimarino said she read a newspaper account of the robbery the next day and realized she must have been in the store while it was going on. She said she called police to say she could identify one of the men — "the description given was wrong."

James referred to notes to describe to the jury the description Mrs. Petersongave of the two men. They were in the 32-35 age range, medium height, one stocky and one slender, both had dark wavy hair and were clean shaven.

Officer James and Charles Amato conducted the investigation Jan. 2 and Amato apprehended Galloway May 8. Amato said he was answering Mrs. Peterson's call to the market when he passed a car driven by a man who kept watching him. The policeman said he noticed the car had Pennsylvania 10-day tags. Treasury Reports Record Levels In Counterfeiting

WASHINGTON (AP) — If there's one thing the Treasury Department dislikes, it's competition in one of its major endeavors — making money.

Despite the department's phenomenal success over 101 years in eliminating competition, however, counterfeiting reached record levels during the year which ended June 30 and the heightened pace is continuing.

But the Secret Service, which was created in 1865 to combat widespread counterfeiting, also had some bad news for the makers of phony money. It reported record seizures and arrests for counterfeiting during its last fiscal year.

James J. Rowley, the Secret Service director, said the major factor in the bogus money boom is the improvement in photography and printing which has made it easier and quicker to produce counterfeits.

And the service added that counterfeiters, in general, are turning out more phony bills per capita than they once did. It's simply a matter of running the presses longer.

"There's no indication that this criminal activity will lessen in the coming year," Rowley said. He added that the rise in counterfeiting generally follows the rise in the society's affluence and the increase in the amount of money in circulation.

At last count on Aug. 31, there was $38.6 billion in paper money in circulation.

Despite improvements in the quality of counterfeits, they still fall short of Treasury standards — the parchment, for example, on which real money is printed has never been duplicated by counterfeiters.

The Secret Service dislikes talking publicly about the techniques it uses to catch counterfeiters, but tipsters and undercover agents play an effective part in enforcement.

Among the modern tools the Treasury uses are its laboratories where it can examine the minute details of paper, inks — also not duplicated by counterfeiters — and other characteristics peculiar to bogus bills.

$50,000 Stouffer Prize In Medicine Awarded 2

CLEVELAND (AP) — The $50,000 Stouffer Prize, one of the richest in medicine, was awarded to Dr. Harry Goldblatt of Cleveland and Dr. Ernest Kleink of Cologne, Germany, Wednesday night. Both received $15,000.

The prize was awarded at a black-tie dinner attended by some 600 persons, including former President Dwight D. Eisenhower who had high praise for Verinon Stouffer. Names of the winners had been announced previously.

Stouffer, Cleveland restaurateur, owner of the Cleveland Indians and benefactor of the city's zoo, established the prize for outstanding work in the field of high blood pressure and arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries).

"It's a dramatic example of an individual who has been able to acquire material means . . . and then use it wisely for the benefit of mankind," Eisenhower said of Stouffer.

"In these days, when all of us are either induced or forced to look to the federal government for progress in civilization. . . it's heartening, indeed, to see that a group of citizens is not ready to abandon this field to a bunch of politicians."

Sir George Pickering, regius professor of medicine at Oxford University, presented the award to Dr. Goldblatt, director of the Louis D. Beaumont Memorial Laboratories at Mount Sinai Hospital.

Sir George credited Dr. Goldblatt with "contributing more to our understanding and control of hypertension than any other living person."

He read the citation which said the award was presented to Dr. Goldblatt "in recognition of his pioneer discovery of a method for producing hypertension in animals on which much subsequent discovery depended."

Dr. Edward H. Ahrens Jr., professor and member of Rockefeller University in New York, read Dr. Klenk's citation and presented his award.

The award was given in recognition of Dr. Klenk's "discoveries in the field of lipid (fat) chemistry, one of the most important facets of arteriosclerosis."

28 More Due To Face Tax Violation Charges

Tax Commissioner D. G. Wilkinson today filed affidavits in Municipal Court accusing 28 more individuals of violating the city income tax ordinance by failure to file returns.

The charges accuse the defendants either of failure to provide final returns on 1965 income or estimates on 1966 earnings. Many are accused of both violations. Wilkinson has been filing the charges in "installments" of 20 or more for the last several months.

Judge Samuel M. Chertoff will set a hearing date for the defendants, then each will be served with a summons by Bailiff Wilbert P. Taylor. The court will reveal the names after the notices have been served.

Final Hearings Due Four For Citizenship

LISBON — Four Columbiana County residents are awaiting notice of final citizenship hearings at the Courthouse following recent review of their applications.

Tuning Radio Man Explains After Mishap

A 23-year - old East Liverpool man tuning his car radio as he drove in the downtown area early today suddenly got WHAM.

It was the sound of a collision, not another radio station. Police said the 1966 sedan driven by William T. Clark of 326 Norton St. was involved in a collision at 4th and Market Sts. at 1:54 a. m. with a 1965 model sports car operated by John L. Owen, 40, of 451 Lycia Ave., Chester.

Owen, driving south on Market St., said the traffic light was in his favor. Clark told officers he did not see the traffic signal because he was busy tuning his radio.

The collision damaged the left side and door of Clark's car and the front bumper, hood, grill and right front quarter panel of Owen's auto, police said. Patrolman Paul C. Blevins investigated.

In another collision Wednesday, a woman motorist told police she deliberately steered her auto into a parked car and a retaining wall to halt it after the brakes failed.

Mary Hazel Rayle, 52, of 158 Pennsylvania Ave. told officers she pulled out of a parking place on a steep grade on Elm St. and then discovered the brakes were not operating.

Rather than allow the car to coast onto busy Pennsylvania Ave., she said, she steered it toward the wall. The Rayle auto hit a parked 1960 two-door sedan owned by Harry O. Hull of 429 Elm St., officers said. The collision damaged both front fenders of the Rayle auto and the right front of Hull's car. Patrolman Paul A. Burson Jr. investigated.

A 54-year-old Beaver County man escaped injury Wednesday at 2:55 p. m. when he walked into the side of a moving car at Dresden Ave. and Rural Ln., officers said.

William Holland of Beaver said he was unhurt after he was bumped by a 1959 model car operated by Wilbert E. Ewing, 39, of 1111 Mick Rd., Wellsville.

Ewing told police he was driving north about 10 miles an hour when Holland stepped from between two parked cars into his path. Holland insisted he was not hurt and refused examination at City Hospital, police said.

Murder-Suicide Ruled In Pittsburgh Deaths

PITTSBURGH (AP) — An argument between a Pittsburgh auto dealer and a former employe has ended with both men shot in what police labeled murder-suicide.

Police said C.J. Thompson, 68, of the city's Oakland district shot himself Wednesday after shooting his former chauffeur, Gilbert Savage, 56, in Thompson's office.

Savage, shot in the back and hand, staggered out of the office and fell on a sidewalk. He died later in Shadyside Hospital.

Thompson died of a head wound, police said.

Police said they found on Thompson's desk a note saying, "Blackmail. Letter, Items charged on Mrs. T a—c. Blackmail"

Car Figure Dies

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Edward M. O'Shea Sr., 70, founder of the first car rental firm to operate on a nationwide basis, died Wednesday.

New Civil Action Linked To Theft Of Gasoline Here

A civil action being tried in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon stems from the theft of 23,000 gallons of gasoline six years ago in East Liverpool.

The American Oil Co. says the fuel stolen from its tanks on the River Rd. over a one-year period in 1959-60 had a reasonable market value of $5,681. The firm seeks judgment in that amount from:

Robert Deering, 401 Elizabeth St., East Liverpool; Robert Lee Wright, Myler Park, East Liverpool; Pauline Martin, 2021 Chester Ave., Wellsville, executrix of the estate of James H. Martin, deceased, and James R. Glover, Chester.

All the male defendants pleaded guilty to criminal indictments in 1961 and requested probation. All were placed on good behavior except Deering, who was sentenced to 1 to 7 years in Ohio Penitentiary.

None of the defendants was present Wednesday.

On the jury sworn in yesterday by Judge Joel H. Sharp are Joseph Giovenco, James Hall, Grace Diddle, Wanda Henry and Kathryn Hercules, East Liverpool; Robert Heckathorne, Wellsville; Charles F. Cunningham, Lisbon; Harry McDade, Rogers; Eleanor Matthews, East Palestine; Albert Ritchie, Washingtonville; William A. Snyder, Leetonia, and Gene Smith, Salem. Ruth Whitehead of Columbiana is the alternate.

Tuning Radio Man Explains After Mishap

A 23-year - old East Liverpool man tuning his car radio as he drove in the downtown area early today suddenly got WHAM.

It was the sound of a collision, not another radio station. Police said the 1966 sedan driven by William T. Clark of 326 Norton St. was involved in a collision at 4th and Market Sts. at 1:54 a. m. with a 1965 model sports car operated by John L. Owen, 40, of 451 Lycia Ave., Chester.

Owen, driving south on Market St., said the traffic light was in his favor. Clark told officers he did not see the traffic signal because he was busy tuning his radio.

The collision damaged the left side and door of Clark's car and the front bumper, hood, grill and right front quarter panel of Owen's auto, police said. Patrolman Paul C. Blevins investigated.

In another collision Wednesday, a woman motorist told police she deliberately steered her auto into a parked car and a retaining wall to halt it after the brakes failed.

Mary Hazel Rayle, 52, of 158 Pennsylvania Ave. told officers she pulled out of a parking place on a steep grade on Elm St. and then discovered the brakes were not operating.

Rather than allow the car to coast onto busy Pennsylvania Ave., she said, she steered it toward the wall. The Rayle auto hit a parked 1960 two-door sedan owned by Harry O. Hull of 429 Elm St., officers said. The collision damaged both front fenders of the Rayle auto and the right front of Hull's car. Patrolman Paul A. Burson Jr. investigated.

A 54-year-old Beaver County man escaped injury Wednesday at 2:55 p. m. when he walked into the side of a moving car at Dresden Ave. and Rural Ln., officers said.

William Holland of Beaver said he was unhurt after he was bumped by a 1959 model car operated by Wilbert E. Ewing, 39, of 1111 Mick Rd., Wellsville.

Ewing told police he was driving north about 10 miles an hour when Holland stepped from between two parked cars into his path. Holland insisted he was not hurt and refused examination at City Hospital, police said.

Murder-Suicide Ruled In Pittsburgh Deaths

PITTSBURGH (AP) — An argument between a Pittsburgh auto dealer and a former employe has ended with both men shot in what police labeled murder-suicide.

Police said C.J. Thompson, 68, of the city's Oakland district shot himself Wednesday after shooting his former chauffeur, Gilbert Savage, 56, in Thompson's office.

Savage, shot in the back and hand, staggered out of the office and fell on a sidewalk. He died later in Shadyside Hospital.

Thompson died of a head wound, police said.

Police said they found on Thompson's desk a note saying, "Blackmail. Letter, Items charged on Mrs. T a—c. Blackmail"

Car Figure Dies

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Edward M. O'Shea Sr., 70, founder of the first car rental firm to operate on a nationwide basis, died Wednesday.

New Civil Action Linked To Theft Of Gasoline Here

A civil action being tried in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon stems from the theft of 23,000 gallons of gasoline six years ago in East Liverpool.

The American Oil Co. says the fuel stolen from its tanks on the River Rd. over a one-year period in 1959-60 had a reasonable market value of $5,681. The firm seeks judgment in that amount from:

Robert Deering, 401 Elizabeth St., East Liverpool; Robert Lee Wright, Myler Park, East Liverpool; Pauline Martin, 2021 Chester Ave., Wellsville, executrix of the estate of James H. Martin, deceased, and James R. Glover, Chester.

All the male defendants pleaded guilty to criminal indictments in 1961 and requested probation. All were placed on good behavior except Deering, who was sentenced to 1 to 7 years in Ohio Penitentiary.

None of the defendants was present Wednesday.

On the jury sworn in yesterday by Judge Joel H. Sharp are Joseph Giovenco, James Hall, Grace Diddle, Wanda Henry and Kathryn Hercules, East Liverpool; Robert Heckathorne, Wellsville; Charles F. Cunningham, Lisbon; Harry McDade, Rogers; Eleanor Matthews, East Palestine; Albert Ritchie, Washingtonville; William A. Snyder, Leetonia, and Gene Smith, Salem. Ruth Whitehead of Columbiana is the alternate.

Treasury Reports Record Levels In Counterfeiting

WASHINGTON (AP) — If there's one thing the Treasury Department dislikes, it's competition in one of its major endeavors — making money.

Despite the department's phenomenal success over 101 years in eliminating competition, however, counterfeiting reached record levels during the year which ended June 30 and the heightened pace is continuing.

But the Secret Service, which was created in 1865 to combat widespread counterfeiting, also had some bad news for the makers of phony money. It reported record seizures and arrests for counterfeiting during its last fiscal year.

James J. Rowley, the Secret Service director, said the major factor in the bogus money boom is the improvement in photography and printing which has made it easier and quicker to produce counterfeits.

And the service added that counterfeiters, in general, are turning out more phony bills per capita than they once did. It's simply a matter of running the presses longer.

"There's no indication that this criminal activity will lessen in the coming year," Rowley said. He added that the rise in counterfeiting generally follows the rise in the society's affluence and the increase in the amount of money in circulation.

At last count on Aug. 31, there was $38.6 billion in paper money in circulation.

Despite improvements in the quality of counterfeits, they still fall short of Treasury standards — the parchment, for example, on which real money is printed has never been duplicated by counterfeiters.

The Secret Service dislikes talking publicly about the techniques it uses to catch counterfeiters, but tipsters and undercover agents play an effective part in enforcement.

Among the modern tools the Treasury uses are its laboratories where it can examine the minute details of paper, inks — also not duplicated by counterfeiters — and other characteristics peculiar to bogus bills.

$50,000 Stouffer Prize In Medicine Awarded 2

CLEVELAND (AP) — The $50,000 Stouffer Prize, one of the richest in medicine, was awarded to Dr. Harry Goldblatt of Cleveland and Dr. Ernest Kleink of Cologne, Germany, Wednesday night. Both received $15,000.

The prize was awarded at a black-tie dinner attended by some 600 persons, including former President Dwight D. Eisenhower who had high praise for Verinon Stouffer. Names of the winners had been announced previously.

Stouffer, Cleveland restaurateuer, owner of the Cleveland Indians and benefactor of the city's zoo, established the prize for outstanding work in the field of high blood pressure and arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries).

"It's a dramatic example of an individual who has been able to acquire material means . . . and then use it wisely for the benefit of mankind," Eisenhower said of Stouffer.

"In these days, when all of us are either induced or forced to look to the federal government for progress in civilization. . . it's heartening, indeed, to see that a group of citizens is not ready to abandon this field to a bunch of politicians."

Sir George Pickering, regius professor of medicine at Oxford University, presented the award to Dr. Goldblatt, director of the Louis D. Beaumont Memorial Laboratories at Mount Sinai Hospital.

Sir George credited Dr. Goldblatt with "contributing more to our understanding and control of hypertension than any other living person."

He read the citation which said the award was presented to Dr. Goldblatt "in recognition of his pioneer discovery of a method for producing hypertension in animals on which much subsequent discovery depended."

Dr. Edward H. Ahrens Jr., professor and member of Rockefeller University in New York, read Dr. Klenk's citation and presented his award.

The award was given in recognition of Dr. Klenk's "discoveries in the field of lipid (fat) chemistry, one of the most important facets of arteriosclerosis."

28 More Due To Face Tax Violation Charges

Tax Commissioner D. G. Wilkinson today filed affidavits in Municipal Court accusing 28 more individuals of violating the city income tax ordinance by failure to file returns.

The charges accuse the defendants either of failure to provide final returns on 1965 income or estimates on 1966 earnings. Many are accused of both violations. Wilkinson has been filing the charges in "installments" of 20 or more for the last several months.

Judge Samuel M. Chertoff will set a hearing date for the defendants, then each will be served with a summons by Bailiff Wilbert P. Taylor. The court will reveal the names after the notices have been served.

Final Hearings Due Four For Citizenship

LISBON — Four Columbiana County residents are awaiting notice of final citizenship hearings at the Courthouse following recent review of their applications.

Seeking citizenship are Yasuko Felger, 33, (a native of Japan) W. Rebecca St., East Palestine; Johanna Thellman, 55, (Romania) 968 Franklin St., Salem; Rocantonio Grande, 50, (Italy) 808 E. 5th St., Salem, and Domenico Alfano, 19, (Italy) 131 Kountz Ave., Wellsville.

A DEBT OF THANKS

Those sage advisers ... those dependable baby sitters ... those superb cookie and cake bakers —grandparents—are owed a special debt of thanks by every parent.

It only seems right that the wonderful people who are on call three hundred and sixty-five days a year be remembered in some special way. And what could be more appropriate than flowers?

You might choose America's favorite ... the red rose. In the "language" of flowers, red roses always mean something special. Or, you might want to show your appreciation by sending an attractive floral arrangement.

We also carry a variety of plants that make thoughtful gifts for grandparents.

And, of course, you can have a beautiful corsage made up that Grandma will never forget.

If you agree that flowers are an ideal way to thank grandparents for all the good things they do, visit our shop. We'd like to serve you.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dale Thibaut's long career with the Franklin County Sheriff's Office ended four months ago with his retirement as chief deputy.

Wednesday his life and those of three other persons ended in a three-car accident south of here that was investigated by men who recently worked under Thibaut.

Thibaut, 70, was alone in one car. His auto collided with one driven by a Lockbourne Air Force Base sergeant, then collided headon with one carrying two young women and a child.

The Air Force man, S. Sgt. Samuel Mitchell, was the only survivor of the wreck and was taken to the base hospital with chest injuries.

The other victims were Karen Jo Rife, 19, of Ashville and her passengers, Mrs. Saundra Cavinee, 25, of Laurelville and her daughter, Kathy, 5. The women were sisters.

Authorities said the mens' cars collided at the intersection of U.S. 23 and Rathmill Road before Thibaut's car glanced toward the oncoming car on U.S. 23.

Thibaut was on his way home from Lockbourne, where he received a physical examination and renewed his commissary and officers club cards. He had the base privileges because he was a retired Army lieutenant colonel, having served with the 37th Infantry Division in World War II.

U.S. Probes For Opening In GE Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal mediators continue probing today for an opening wedge in the bargaining positions of union and company negotiators in a threatened General Electric strike which the government fears would harm national defense.

"We have no new money to put on the table," General Electric's top negotiator, Philip D. Moore, told chief federal mediator, William E. Simkin.

President Paul Jennings of the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers told Simkin in a separate meeting that the union considers it "critical" to win its demands for a bigger cost of living wage offer, improved methods to solve grievances and raising lower wage differentials in General Electric's southern plants.

A special panel of three Cabinet members appointed by President Johnson to help try to solve the deadlocked negotiations remained in the background.

There had been some hints that the trio — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor — might talk to a joint meeting Wednesday.

But Simkin's report of the refusal of both sides to budge from their positions apparently squelched any such possibility for the time being.

General Electric makes engines for jet fighter planes and helicopters, radar equipment and bomb sights, aircraft cannons and machine guns and other war materials.

A two-week strike postponement and extension of the old contract terms, granted at President Johnson's request, expires Oct. 17.

Rattlesnakes do not always rattle before they strike, nor do they have to coil before striking.

Clement Wood wrote the words to the songs, "Glory Road" and "Shortenin' Bread."

Charles Klasic Jr., 39, of Wintersville will appear next Tuesday on a citation issued at 10:50 p. m. for driving 65 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone.

Meanwhile, Patricia Ann Green, 27, of 1016 Dresden Ave. was fined $15 and costs Wednesday when she pleaded guilty to a charge of speeding 60 miles an hour in a 45-mile zone on Route 30. She was cited at 1:30 a. m. Sept. 28 by the patrol.

Peace Corpsman Says Treatment By Reds Cordial

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Peace Corpsman Thomas Dawson, detained by the Soviet government for three weeks after wandering across the Soviet-Iranian border, says Communist officials interrogated him four hours a day.

But he described his treatment at the hands of the Soviets as cordial.

Dawson, of Annapolis, Md., returned to the United States Wednesday night for a smiling reunion with his mother and sister.

Dawson, 24, was arrested by Soviet border guards as he looked for shells along a shallow stream near the Caspian Sea.

"I walked down the beach, past what was the Russian border, but I didn't know it at that time," he said. "There was nothing to indicate it was the Russian border. No signs, no people and nobody ever told me it was the border."

One In Stamp Trial Termed 'Middle Man'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Joseph B. Morris, one of five defendants charged with transporting 65 million stolen trading stamps across state lines, was termed an "innocent bystander or middle man," by his attorney Wednesday.

Morris, 50, of San Francisco, testified under questioning by his attorney, Gilbert J. Helwing, that another defendant mentioned the stamps last April after a conversation in Los Angeles.

"At the end of our conversation (George) Laris asked me if I knew anyone who might be interested in buying 85 million Green Stamps," Morris said.

"I told him I never had tried to make a sale like that but would make inquiries of other brokers," Morris added.

Morris, a licensed California real estate broker, said he was to have received five per cent of the $145,000 price asked for the stamps.

Charged in the trial before Federal Judge Gerald J. Weber in addition to Morris and Laris, 51, of Ambridge, are Ralph C. Hobbs, 49, Beaver Falls; Victor Battista, 36, East Orange, N.J., and Gaetano Miceli, 37, Buffalo, N.Y.

Officials Detail Pigeon Controls

Pigeon control methods used by the Ohio Department of Wildlife were explained by two of its representatives Wednesday at a City Hall meeting arranged by the Health Board.

The state officials said the procedure begins in a 10-to14-day "pre-baiting period" when the whole kernel corn is scattered in recognized nesting areas to attract the pigeons to feed regularly. After the feeding practice has been established, corn surface -coated with a quick - acting poison is scattered, they said.

The officials said the poison corn usually is scattered when there is snow on the ground, after most songbirds have migrated south for the winter. Since the corn is surface coated, the poison will wash off in the first rain so that none of the bait should be harmful to other birds, they said.

Attending the meeting were Mayor George Willshaw, Mrs. Donna Richards Wilson, a member of Council; Fire Chief Alfred VanDyne, Police Chief A. J. Radeschi, Capt. Robert Pyle, and Jack Bonner and Ben Weber, representing the Health Department.

Two Empire Men Hurt In Mishap

Two Empire men were injured when the truck in which they were riding overturned on Route 152, a mile and two-tenths west of Route 7 at Empire, Tuesday at 4:30 p. m., according to the Wintersville State Highway Patrol.

Officers said Dewey Westbrook, 41, of Empire was driving west around a left curve when something apparently happened to the steering apparatus and the truck swung around, struck a guard rail and overturned.

Westbrook suffered a possible back injury and possible fracture of the left foot.

Both were treated at St. John's Hospital, Steubenville.

Proposed Amendments Gain Support In W. Va.

Support for the proposed constitutional amendments on the Nov. 8 ballot has been coming forth from various quarters, but the support is given with a recommendation for still more constitutional reform.

Former Gov. Cecil Underwood Wednesday expressed strong support in Charleston for the first amendment on the ballot, the one which would permit special elections for consideration of constitutional questions.

Underwood, a Republican who was governor from 1957 to 1961, also supported the other amendments, but was less enthusiastic about them.

In Morgantown, at a panel discussion at West Virginia University, support was expressed for the amendments, but again it was couched in terms that more might be done.

The panel consisted of David Francis, chairman of the board of Princess Coals, Inc.; and a former mayor of Huntington, W. E. Chilton III, publisher of the Charleston Gazette; William Ross, professor of political science at WVU, and Darrell McGraw, an aide of Gov. Hulett Smith.

They spoke on the need for constitutional reform in the state and advocated passage of all five amendments. But the criticism centered on the way the constitution was being revised.

"Each time we amend our constitution by the piecemeal basis we are getting ourselves deeper into trouble," Ross declared.

The group endorsed the idea of a constitutional convention to amend the constitution, and perhaps provide the state with a "meaningful government," as Chilton put it.

Chilton also presented a six-point plan he said would help provide that meaningful government. The proposals included reducing the number of counties from 55 to 30 or 20 units, revamping the judicial system to make it non-partisan including "throwing out" the justices of the peace, and providing a unicameral legislature.

While the panelists spoke of a constitutional convention to provide amendments to the state constitution, Underwood urged formation of a citizen's committee to bring about reform.

He said this committee should be "dominated by public interest and nothing else."

Senators Urge Expanded Patrols To Limit War

WASHINGTON (AP) — A halt in U. S. bombing aimed at restoring a neutral zone between North and South Viet Nam brought senatorial proposals today for expanded international patrols to limit the war.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk said in New York Wednesday that air attacks on the eastern part of the buffer area had been suspended. The White House previously described this as an effort to permit the International Control Commission to investigate alleged violations of the area.

In Saigon, reliable sources reported U. S. and Vietnamese planes halted bombing of a 24-mile-square area of the demilitarized zone 10 days ago so commission teams could carry out inspections.

"We would like to see that zone fully demilitarized again," Rusk said, "if the North Vietnamese will stop using the zone for a purpose for which it was not intended."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield was joined by Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in applauding this action. Both have opposed escalation of the war.

The two Democrats proposed in separate interviews that control commission patrols be beefed up and their operations expanded to cover South Viet Nam's borders with Cambodia and Laos.

"It is quite possible that if the International Control Commission were given sufficient personnel and its responsibilities strengthened that it could become effective toward limiting the war and opening the way to peace negotiations," Mansfield said.

Fulbright said he didn't want to raise any false hopes of what might be accomplished, but he favored expanding the patrols.

Canada, India and Poland are members of the international commission set up after the 1954 Geneva Conference to police the demilitarized area between North and South Viet Nam agreed upon at that meeting.

In Ottawa it was said that patrols carried out in the 35 mile long, 6 mile wide zone by two teams of two Canadian officers, two Indians and two Poles were resuming in the eastern segment.

These inspection journeys had been suspended this summer when the United States started bombing staging areas and ammunition dumps the North Vietnamese had set up in the zone to infiltrate troops into South Viet Nam.

The South Vietnamese government reportedly ordered a cessation of all bombing and military activity Sept. 27 in the area of the buffer zone east of Route 1, which is four miles west of the South China Sea.

North Viet Nam reportedly refused permission for control commission teams to inspect the Communist side of the zone.

Q. — How can I treat white garments that have become scorched while ironing them?

A. — Rub the spot immediately with a cloth dipped in diluted peroxide, then run the iron over it, and it will often be as white as ever.

Q. — How can I keep eggs fresh for a fairly long time?

A. — Rub very fresh eggs with oil, butter, or pure glycerin.

Sen. Young Calls Ike 'A Super War Hawk'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, called three retired U. S. generals, including former President Eisenhower, "super war hawks" in the Senate Wednesday.

He said recent statements by Eisenhower, and retired Air Force generals Curtis E. LeMay and Nathan F. Twining, urging escalation of U. S. combat efforts in Viet Nam, were those of "irresponsible war hawks."

State Again Will Seek Death Penalty For Ruby

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Henry Wade says the state will seek the death penalty again for Jack Ruby, whose conviction for killing accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald was set aside Wednesday.

Defense counsel expressed confidence, however, that the former Dallas night club operator will go free within months if he is allowed to plead guilty to a charge of murder without malice.

Wade, in Dallas, was chief prosecutor in the trial ending there March 14, 1964, with a state court jury assessing Ruby, 55, a death sentence.

Wade said he intends to file a motion for rehearing by Oct. 20, asking the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals to change its mind and uphold Ruby's murder conviction.

The court, the highest in Texas for criminal matters, ruled that Ruby did not get a fair trial. It reversed the conviction and ordered a new trial, to be held outside Dallas County.

The main reason cited by the Austin court in its decision was that the trial court erred when it allowed testimony by Dallas Police Sgt. P. T. Dean about what Ruby said some 10 to 40 minutes after Oswald was shot in the Dallas police station basement.

According to Dean's testimony, Ruby "told Dean that he had seen Oswald in a police lineup two nights before and that when he saw the saracastic sneer on Oswald's face he had decided that if he got a chance to do so, he would kill him," the appellate court decision said.

It continued: "Obviously this statement constituted an oral confession of premeditation made while in police custody and therefore was not admissible. The admission of this testimony was clearly injurious and calls for a reversal of this conviction."

Ruby shot Oswald in view of live television cameras Nov. 24, 1963. Oswald had been arrested soon after the Nov. 22 assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The decision also states the verdict was reversible because the trial judge, Joe B. Brown, did not allow the case to be tried outside Dallas County as asked by the defense.

Ruby has been in custody since he shot Oswald.

Other expenditures approved by the board included $1.3 million for a statistics library at the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center at Wooster, $562,000 for new facilities at Indian Lake State Park in Logan County and $27,000 for a golf course at Punderson State Park in Geuaga County.

EAST PALESTINE—Miss Sally R. Ice, 24 of 78 N. Liberty St., was to be arraigned this afternoon before Judge Herbert E. Artman in Eastern County Court on a charge she forged a $209 check on the account of Harry Lawrence, local department store owner, and cashed it at the First National Bank here. The charge was filed by Police Chief Wallace Dillworth. Miss Ice was free on $200 bond.

Won't Seek Johnson's Job, Kennedy Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Post today quoted Sen. Robert F. Kennedy as saying he would not run for President or vice president in 1968 "under any foreseeable circumstances."

Kennedy "made it clear that he would not be interested in being President Johnson's running mate even if the President asked him to," the Post article said.

The New York Democrat had said Sept. 1 in an Associated Press interview that he would support Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for re-election in 1968.

Bull Elk Forces Way Into Wildlife Refuge

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP) — A bull elk forced his way into a Flagstaff wildlife refuge, giving up the forests and plains for life behind a chain link fence.

The elk, a 1,200 pounder, had slammed himself up against the fence for several days before breaking in, according to Ted Babbit, a member of the Buffalo Park Wildlife Committee.

What seemed to be wrong with the animal?

Nothing, Babbit said. "He broke in the day before elk season opened."

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Now You See Him, Now You Don't

Journalist Harry S. Ashmore, a Pulitzer Prize winner who gained national fame when he was editor of the Arkansas Gazette at Little Rock in 1958, sees television's "beady eye" shattering our traditional political patterns "beyond repair," and he does not like it.

Hal Humphrey

"For a brief, flickering moment in the early days of TV it was widely believed that the relentless scrutiny of the camera would purge politics of the phony and the venal," Ashmore observes, but then adds that the only rare times this becomes true are when the TV camera catches the politician in an unguarded moment or under the glare of protracted exposure where the politician does not have control of the situation.

HE CITES the Army-McCarthy hearings as an example in that genre.

Ashmore elaborated at length concerning TV's influence on politics when he delivered a keynote address at a "State of the Future" conference in the Hollywood Palladium last Saturday.

The sponsoring committee, headed by businessman Harold Willens, included actor Gregory Peck, author S. I. Hayakawa, state board of education president Thomas Braden, councilman Tom Bradley, Ashmore and many other state and community leaders.

"The issue I am concerned with here," said Ashmore in his address, "is that raised by the television advertising campaigns paid for and totally controlled by the candidate and his backers. This is where the technique of image building is fully brought into play—and this, I am convinced, is where our major elections will be won and lost from now on."

TV, ARGUES Ashmore, is reducing politics from issues to images much more radpidly than the old double - talking word heelers ever dramed could be possible. He says the so-called Great Debates indulged in by Richard Nixon and the late John F. Kennedy brought their contest for the presidency down to a battle of images.

"It is my own belief," Ashmore stated, "that there would have been no perceptible effect on the outcome had the two men swapped position on every one of the issues they discussed during their famous TV debates.

"Against this background," continued Ashmore in his address, "there is an inevitable Madison Avenue logic in the progression that has led to the emergence of Ronald Reagan as a leading contender for the governorship of California and an early entry in the 1968 presidential contest.

"ONCE TELEVISION had demonstrated that no politician could succeed without employing the skills of the actor, some group of king-makers was bound to go the whole way and seek an actor for a candidate."

According to Ashmore, a refinement of TV techniques for politicians, and those aspiring to become politicians, now makes it possible for the image-builders to merchandise their candidate in one mold this week, then expediently re-mold him the next week to lure another segment of the voters.

"It was this singular feat of the image-builders' art that so grievously confounded the pollsters—and left most of them 20 per centage points or more wide of the mark in the California primary," Ashmore concluded.

"TEN DAYS before the election they were calling the Christopher-Reagan race a dead heat, and I suspect they were right. But their rechecking techniques could not take into account the mounting impact of the 'round-the-clock campaign that made it impossible for any TV viewer to escape exposure to the new Ronald Reagan, who now came in a handy, moderate-size package."

If TV's potency as a manufacturer of political candidates is as great as Ashmore now feels, and it is possible via TV to project two images of a candidate simultaneously, then viewers of TV will need the cautioning and training which most of us as readers used to get, and that was, "You must read between the lines."

In the case of TV and the conjurers of political imagery we now will have to learn to listen between the looks.

Now You See Him, Now You Don't

Journalist Harry S. Ashmore, a Pulitzer Prize winner who gained national fame when he was editor of the Arkansas Gazette at Little Rock in 1958, sees television's "beady eye" shattering our traditional political patterns "beyond repair," and he does not like it.

Hal Humphrey

"For a brief, flickering moment in the early days of TV it was widely believed that the relentless scrutiny of the camera would purge politics of the phony and the venal," Ashmore observes, but then adds that the only rare times this becomes true are when the TV camera catches the politician in an unguarded moment or under the glare of protracted exposure where the politician does not have control of the situation.

English Nobleman Faces Fine In Bombing

SALISBURY, England (AP) — A young English nobleman who set off a gasoline bomb to protest the use of one of England's loveliest old villages by an American film company has been ordered to pay a $1,400 fine or go to jail for 12 months.

Lt. Sir Ranulph Twistleton-Wykeham-Fiennes, 22, and three of his friends pleaded guilty Wednesday to setting off the delayed action bombs in the village of Castle Coombe last June. The friends' fines ranged from $280 to $560.

The village 90 miles west of London is a tourist mecca because of its unspoiled main street, spotlessness and thatched-roof cottages. Twentieth Century-Fox filmed scenes there for its $36-million musical adapted from Hugh Lofting's "Dr. Doolittle" books for children.

The Castillo de San Marcos, St. Augustine, Fla., is the oldest masonry fort still standing in the United States.

Georgia Democrats Choose Realtor To Replace Weltner

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Atlanta Democrats — to fill the void left when U.S. Rep. Charles L. Weltner withdrew from the congressional race rather than support an ardent segregationist for governor — are relying on self-described middle-of-the-roader Archie L. Lindsey.

Lindsey, 55, a real estate agent was picked Wednesday by a party committee to face Republican opposition in the Nov. 8 general election.

Weltner withdrew from the race Monday, saying his principles do not permit him to support Lester G. Maddox as the Democratic nominee for governor.

Lindsey will support Maddox. "I have been a Democrat all my life, have always supported the party ticket and will do so this time," he said.

He was picked at a closed meeting of the Fulton County (Atlanta) Democratic Executive Committee, which considered more than a dozen persons.

A veteran of city-county politics, Lindsey will resign from the county commission post he has held 14 years to take on State Sen. Fletcher Thompson, the GOP nominee who got on the ballot by petition.

Weltner said in Washington he was pleased at the committee's choice and predicted Lindsey would win easily despite a late start in the race. "He's not an unknown like his Republican opponent," Weltner said.

When he withdrew, Weltner explained he could not break a party loyalty oath he signed to become a candidate and neither could he vote for Maddox, a segregationist.

70% Of Americans Consider Religion 'Very Important'

NEW YORK (AP) — Ninety-two per cent of Americans regard religion as important, with 70 per cent of the group considering it "very important" and 22 per cent thinking it "fairly important," a national sampling indicates.

The survey, taken for the Catholic Digest magazine by the Gallup public opinion research organization, also turned up these other findings:

Concern for religion is greatest in medium-sized cities, of 25,000 to 100,000 population, where 81 per cent of the people consider it "very important."

In large metropolitan cities, of more than a million population, only 65 per cent rate religion "very important." The figure ranges upward as the city size declines.

About 78 per cent of those over 65 canvassed consider religion very important. Only 57 per cent of the 18-24 age group consider religion of prime importance.

More dark-skinned people, 80 per cent, rate religion very important than do whites, 69 per cent. More women, 80 per cent, also do so than men, 63 per cent.

In the poll, a cross-section of American adults was asked:

"How important would you say religion is in your own life — very important, fairly important, or not very important?"

The findings indicated the percentage of the general population considering religion "very important," 70 per cent, was down 5 per cent from what it was in 1952.

However, the number considering religion "fairly important," was up slightly from 20 per cent 14 years ago, to 22 per cent now.

The percentage saying religion was "not very important" was up 2 per cent — to 7 per cent.

Brink's Robbery Mastermind Dies In Prison Cell

BOSTON (AP) — On Jan. 17, 1950, Joseph F. McGinnis was at his liquor store, talking to a Boston police lieutenant.

Just then, on that mild and drizzly winter night, a band of disciplined men entered a three-story concrete garage on the waterfront. In 20 minutes, they hauled away $1,219,000 in cash.

McGinnis was later identified by one of the gang as the mastermind of the Brink's robbery, then the biggest cash robbery in the country's history.

Ten years ago today, McGinnis and seven others were convicted of the robbery.

Wednesday night, McGinnis was found dead in his cell at the Massachusetts State Prison in nearby Walpole, apparently of a heart attack. He was 63.

The bald, heavy-set McGinnis died without shedding light on what happened to the Brink's money. Only about $50,000 of the $1.2 million has been recovered.

McGinnis and the others were found guilty and sentenced to life terms for the robbery.

Palmer Meets Koufax In 2nd Game

By MIKE RATHET

LOS ANGELES (AP) — No one's written a poem about Baltimore's bullpen brigade, but pitching coach Harry Brecheen throws a pretty clever line of blank verse around.

"We got 'em long and we got 'em short," Brecheen said. "And we got plenty of both."

It's just possible that the Baltimore bullpen brigade has been the one factor measured incorrectly by the experts who tabbed the Los Angeles Dodgers as 8-5 favorites to win their second straight World Series.

Moe Drabowsky, a 31-year-old part time stock broker who considered retiring before the season, came out of the Baltimore bullpen in the third inning Wednesday and completely shackled the Dodgers while breaking one Series strikeout record and tying another in Baltimore's 5-2 victory.

Ever since the Orioles have arrived in Los Angeles, Manager Hank Bauer and Brecheen have been pelted with questions suggesting the Orioles couldn't possibly win the Series because of their pitching.

All pointed to the fact that the entire Orioles' staff had completed only 23 games — to 27 for Dodger left-hander Sandy Koufax.

As game No. 1 started, Bauer dispatched one of the biggest bullpen crews in history down the right field line — sending every available pitcher to the bullpen with the exception of the starter, Dave McNally, and Jim Palmer, today's second game pitcher against the Dodgers' Koufax.

Bauer used it almost immediately, calling on Drabowsky in the third inning to protect a 4-1 lead built on consecutive first inning homers by the Robinson boys and Russ Snyder's key single in the second.

Drabowsky came on with the bases loaded and one out, struck out Wes Parker, walked Jim Gilliam to force in a run and then got John Roseboro to foul out.

That was it for the Dodgers. Drabowsky went on to strike out the next six batters in order and finished with 11 in all while allowing the Dodgers only a harmless seventh inning single by Willie Davis.

The six straight strikeouts tied the Series record set by Hod Eller of Cincinnati against the Chicago White Sox in 1919 and the 11 was the most for a relief pitcher in Series history, bettering the 10 by Jess Barnes of the New York Giants against the New York Yankees in 1921.

Drabowsky just did what the Baltimore scouting report said, according to catcher Andy Etchebarren.

"That told us that a good fast ball can be thrown past the Dodgers," the rookie receiver said.

Walt Alston, the Dodger manager didn't comment on that, but he did on Drabowsky.

"You've got to give him credit," Alston said. "I remember he was a strong thrower as a youngster when he was with the Chicago Cubs. Then he had a sore arm. But it looked like he threw as good as he ever did."

Drabowsky agreed but admitted he was close to retiring and becoming a full time stock broker when the Orioles drafted him from the St. Louis Cardinals last winter.

"I suppose if Baltimore hadn't drafted me I might have retired," he said. "But when I had a chance to go with a club that could win the pennant, I changed my mind."

An inning later, Snyder singled in a run after a walk to Etchebarren and a sacrifice.

In the bottom half of the second, Jim Lefebvre hammered McNally for a leadoff homer, cutting the lead to 4-1. Then, in the third, McNally walked three consecutive batters and Bauer signalled for Drabowsky.

"He was my logical choice," Bauer said, "because he had the most experience."

Drysdale Blames Self For Home Run Pitches

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Don Drysdale was beaten in the first game of the World Series by the Baltimore Orioles, and today Sandy Koufax goes to the mound for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

That was the pitching rotation a year ago for the Dodgers against the Minnesota Twins.

"I hope it all turns out the same way," said the Dodger manager, Walter Alston, hurriedly adding, "only I hope we don't lose two in a row."

The two Dodger aces went down to defeat in the first two games at Minnesota St. Paul 8-2 and 5-1 last year but Los Angeles came back to win the Series in seven games.

Home runs by Frank and Brooks Robinson rocked Drysdale for three runs in the first inning Wednesday.

Drysdale related that the Robinson boys hit high fast balls and he blamed himself.

"I just didn't put the ball where I wanted to. They're good hitters. Any good hitter is tough," the big fellow said.

Although Don pitched only two innings, Alston said he would not revise his pitching order. Claude Osteen goes at Baltimore Saturday in the opener of the three games there, with Drysdale Sunday.

Dr. Fager Pressed, But Remains Unbeaten

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Fager still is unbeaten but much of the aura of invincibility that surrounded the Tartan Stable colt had faded.

The Florida-bred son of Rough 'n Tumble from W.L. McKnight's Tartan Stable came from off the pace and won the $88,350 Cowdin from niine other topflight 2-year-olds Wednesday at Aqueduct. But unlike his three previous triumphs, when his margin of victory ranged from seven to 12 lengths, he was just able to get up in time to nip In Reality.

Akron East Boasts Speedy Backs To Throw At Potters

The East Liverpool Potters, seeking to run their victory string to three straight, must stop the blinding speed of Akron East which invades Patterson Field Saturday night.

The Potters fresh from an 8-0 upset of previously unbeaten Steubenville Central, will be meeting a trio of sprinters in Larry Ratcliffe, Dave Richards and Harvey Drone.

COACH Dom Patella reported his team to be "mostly a running club, we don't throw much," he said.

When looking over the backfield one can see why the Akron eleven sticks mainly on the ground.

Ratcliffe has been clocked at 9.9 in the 100 and finished fifth in the state finals last spring. He runs from right half and is joined by two other speedsters, Dave Richards, a 170-pound junior halfback and Harvey Drone, 170-pound junior fullback.

BOTH Richards and Drone have been timed at 10.1 and 10.2 so the Potters will be having a busy night containing this trio.

In three outings, East won its first two starts but dropped a 14-8 decision to Akron Garfield on a muddy field last Friday night.

—:—

FOR THE past two years East has been the City Champions but Patella calls this year's team "a young club with the need of game experience." Five juniors will start for the Orientals Saturday night.

Patella has his regular quarterback from last season back at the helm in Chuck Shuman, 165-pound senior.

—:—

Pantella is in his 12th season at Akron East.

East Liverpool is the only opponent outside of Akron that East will meet this season. All other games with the exception of St. Vincent are City Series battles.

World Match Play Event Opens Today

VIRGINIA WATER, England (AP) — Four of golf's greatest players — Nicklaus, Palmer, Casper and Player — appeared ready after exceptional practice rounds, but they had more than just the course to worry about today as the World Match Play Golf Tournament opened.

Sub-par golf doesn't always win in match play, which is man-to-man and often is won by the player with the most nerve on a vital hole.

Jack Nicklaus, the Masters and British Open champion, ruled the 5-2 favorite, closely followed by his American rivals Billy Casper, the U.S. Open champion, and Arnold Palmer, who won the inaugural of this event two years ago, and South African Gary Player, defending here. Palmer was 7-2, and Casper and Player each 4-1.

The four have looked great over the 6,997-yard par 36-38—74 Wentworth West course, known as the Burma Road, shooting scores down to 65, and Nicklaus shot a 69 Wednesday in a pre-tournament exhibition.

Bill Smith Rolls 299 Game At Tri-State

Only the No. 9 pin stood between Bill Smith and a bowler's dream of a 300 game Wednesday night at the Tri-State Lanes in Calcutta.

Smith rolled 11 straight strikes for a 299 game but left the nine pin standing in the 12th frame depriving him of the 300 score. Smith rolls for the Duke Beer team in the Greene Memorial League.

Drabowsky Wins Hero's Bouquet

By MURRAY CHASS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Moe Drabowsky remembers how, when he was 3 years old, he sat next to a stream in the backyard of the family farm in Ozanna, Poland, catching fish with his bare hands.

Drabowsky struck out 11 all told Wednesday as the Baltimore Orioles defeated the Dodgers 5-2 in the first game of the World Series.

The 11 strikeouts broke a series record and the six straight he recorded in the fourth and fifth innings tied one.

And the 31-year-old Drabowsky accomplished all that while limiting the favored Dodgers to one hit in 6 2-3 innings of relief and becoming the hero in the opening game.

Playing in a World Series, though, is a great distance from playing in a backyard in southwest Poland. Drabowsky was born in Ozanna in 1935 and left there three years later.

"I have some visions of my years there," he said between explaining how he stymied the Dodgers.

"I can remember the stream running through the backyard. I'd sit there and try to catch fish with my bare hands.

"When we first came over in 1938, I had a problem in school. My father couldn't speak English and my mother spoke only broken English. I couldn't speak English either and when I started school, I got bad grades.

"But with the advent of television, my father started picking up some English, and I started doing okay too."

"It's about time I got on the right side of a record," Drabowsky laughed. He referred to the fact that he gave up Stan Musial's 3,000th hit, allowed the winning hit in Early Wynn's 300th victory and once hit four batters in one game.

When he isn't running into negative records, or positive ones, or just pitching routinely, Drabowsky is a stock broker. He works in the off-season for a firm in Chicago.

Palmer Meets Koufax In 2nd Game

LOS ANGELES (AP) — No one's written a poem about Baltimore's bullpen brigade, but pitching coach Harry Brecheen throws a pretty clever line of blank verse around.

"We got 'em long and we got 'em short," Brecheen said. "And we got plenty of both."

It's just possible that the Baltimore bullpen brigade has been the one factor measured incorrectly by the experts who tabbed the Los Angeles Dodgers as 8-5 favorites to win their second straight World Series.

Moe Drabowsky, a 31-year-old part time stock broker who considered retiring before the season, came out of the Baltimore bullpen in the third inning Wednesday and completely shackled the Dodgers while breaking one Series strikeout record and tying another in Baltimore's 5-2 victory.

Ever since the Orioles have arrived in Los Angeles, Manager Hank Bauer and Brecheen have been pelted with questions suggesting the Orioles couldn't possibly win the Series because of their pitching.

All pointed to the fact that the entire Orioles' staff had completed only 23 games — to 27 for Dodger left-hander Sandy Koufax.

As game No. 1 started, Bauer dispatched one of the biggest bullpen crews in history down the right field line — sending every available pitcher to the bullpen with the exception of the starter, Dave McNally, and Jim Palmer, today's second game pitcher against the Dodgers' Koufax.

Bauer used it almost immediately, calling on Drabowsky in the third inning to protect a 4-1 lead built on consecutive first inning homers by the Robinson boys and Russ Snyder's key single in the second.

Drabowsky came on with the bases loaded and one out, struck out Wes Parker, walked Jim Gilliam to force in a run and then got John Roseboro to foul out.

That was it for the Dodgers. Drabowsky went on to strike out the next six batters in order and finished with 11 in all while allowing the Dodgers only a harmless seventh inning single by Willie Davis.

The six straight strikeouts tied the Series record set by Hod Eller of Cincinnati against the Chicago White Sox in 1919 and the 11 was the most for a relief pitcher in Series history, bettering the 10 by Jess Barnes of the New York Giants against the New York Yankees in 1921.

Drabowsky just did what the Baltimore scouting report said, according to catcher Andy Etchebarren.

"That told us that a good fast ball can be thrown past the Dodgers," the rookie receiver said.

Walt Alston, the Dodger manager didn't comment on that, but he did on Drabowsky.

"You've got to give him credit," Alston said. "I remember he was a strong thrower as a youngster when he was with the Chicago Cubs. Then he had a sore arm. But it looked like he threw as good as he ever did."

Drabowsky agreed but admitted he was close to retiring and becoming a full time stock broker when the Orioles drafted him from the St. Louis Cardinals last winter.

"I suppose if Baltimore hadn't drafted me I might have retired," he said. "But when I had a chance to go with a club that could win the pennant, I changed my mind."

In the bottom half of the second, Jim Lefebvre hammered McNally for a leadoff homer, cutting the lead to 4-1. Then, in the third, McNally walked three consecutive batters and Bauer signalled for Drabowsky.

"He was my logical choice," Bauer said, "because he had the most experience."

Akron East Boasts Speedy Backs To Throw At Potters

The East Liverpool Potters, seeking to run their victory string to three straight, must stop the blinding speed of Akron East which invades Patterson Field Saturday night.

The Potters fresh from an 8-0 upset of previously unbeaten Steubenville Central, will be meeting a trio of sprinters in Larry Ratcliffe, Dave Richards and Harvey Drone.

COACH Dom Patella reported his team to be "mostly a running club, we don't throw much," he said.

When looking over the backfield one can see why the Akron eleven sticks mainly on the ground.

Ratcliffe has been clocked at 9.9 in the 100 and finished fifth in the state finals last spring. He runs from right half and is joined by two other speedsters, Dave Richards, a 170-pound junior halfback and Harvey Drone, 170-pound junior fullback.

BOTH Richards and Drone have been timed at 10.1 and 10.2 so the Potters will be having a busy night containing this trio.

In three outings, East won its first two starts but dropped a 14-8 decision to Akron Garfield on a muddy field last Friday night.

FOR THE past two years East has been the City Champions but Patella calls this year's team "a young club with the need of game experience." Five juniors will start for the Orientals Saturday night.

Patella has his regular quarterback from last season back at the helm in Chuck Shuman, 165-pound senior.

Pantella is in his 12th season at Akron East.

East Liverpool is the only opponent outside of Akron that East will meet this season. All other games with the exception of St. Vincent are City Series battles.

Drysdale Blames Self For Home Run Pitches

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Don Drysdale was beaten in the first game of the World Series by the Baltimore Orioles, and today Sandy Koufax goes to the mound for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

That was the pitching rotation a year ago for the Dodgers against the Minnesota Twins.

"I hope it all turns out the same way," said the Dodger manager, Walter Alston, hurriedly adding, "only I hope we don't lose two in a row."

The two Dodger aces went down to defeat in the first two games at Minnesota-St. Paul 8-2 and 5-1 last year but Los Angeles came back to win the Series in seven games.

Home runs by Frank and Brooks Robinson rocked Drysdale for three runs in the first inning Wednesday.

Drysdale related that the Robinson boys hit high fast balls and he blamed himself.

"I just didn't put the ball where I wanted to. They're good hitters. Any good hitter is tough," the big fellow said.

Although Don pitched only two innings, Alston said he would not revise his pitching order. Claude Osteen goes at Baltimore Saturday in the opener of the three games there, with Drysdale Sunday.

Dr. Fager Pressed, But Remains Unbeaten

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Fager still is unbeaten but much of the aura of invincibility that surrounded the Tartan Stable colt had faded.

The Florida-bred son of Rough 'n Tumble from W.L. McKnight's Tartan Stable came from off the pace and won the $88,350 Cowdin from niine other topflight 2-year-olds Wednesday at Aqueduct. But unlike his three previous triumphs, when his margin of victory ranged from seven to 12 lengths, he was just able to get up in time to nip In Reality.

Ground Rule Double May Have Changed First Game

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Editor

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An over-eager baseball fan, probably a Dodger partisan, must wonder today if a careless act on his part might have played a part in the 5-2 defeat of the Los Angeles Dodgers by the Baltimore Orioles in the World Series opening game.

Here was the setting:

But Jim Lefebvre opened the Dodger half of the second with a booming homer to left field. Wes Parker followed with a scorching drive that sliced first base and skidded deep into foul territory down the right field line.

A fan then reached out and grabbed for it. That made it an automatic double. It probably would have been a triple had it not been for the illegal interference.

It looked now as if the Dodgers were beginning to get at the Oriole starter, McNally, who promptly gave Jim Gilliam a base on balls.

If Parker had been on third where he should have been if it hadn't been for the fan who wanted to grab a souvenir ball, he would have scored and that would have made it 4-2, still a redeemable ball game. Maury Wills struck out to end the inning.

He went out, however, in the top of the third after issuing walks to Lou Johnson, Tommy Davis, and Lefebvre in succession.

Dakota State Continues To Lead In Poll

Montana State, a 55-6 winner over Fresno State last Saturday, has moved into the runner-up position behind North Dakota State in the weekly Associated Press small-college football poll.

Middle Tennessee State, Weber State and Tennessee State also gained ground in the rankings.

North Dakota State, which beat South Dakota State 35-6 for its fourth straight victory, collected seven votes for first place and 136 points in the balloting by a national panel of 16 sports writers and broadcasters.

Montana State was named the top team on five ballots and accumulated 112 points on a basis of 10 for a first place vote, 9 for second etc.

North Dakota slipped one place to third despite a 23-10 triumph over State College of Iowa. Sul Ross, a 16-13 victor over Southwest Texas, held the No. 4 spot.

Middle Tennessee State, tied for 10th a week ago, zoomed to fifth after defeating Western Kentucky 33-9.

San Diego State, Eastern Kentucky, Wittenberg, Weber State and Tennessee State round out the top 10 in that order. The latter two teams were unranked last week.

The top ten with total points:

1.	North Dakota St.	136
2.	Montana St.	112
3.	North Dakota	111
4.	Sul Ross	75

Tensi Named Back Of Week

Young Steve Tensi had never thrown a football in a regular pro game until last Sunday when San Diego Coach Sid Gillman called him off the bench in the second half against the charged up Miami Dolphins.

The 6-foot-5, 220-pounder fired up the sputtering San Diego machine with four touchdown passes that carried the Chargers from a 10-6 deficit to a rousing 44-10 victory.

This earned the 23-year-old taxi squad graduate The Associated Press' award as Offensive Player of the Week in the American Football League.

Tensi, a star of the Gator Bowl game for Florida State in 1964, clicked on nine of 12 passes for 223 yards and touchdown pass plays of 25, 44, 30 and 63 yards.

"Steve was terrific — he played a beautiful game," said John Hadl, the AFL's No. 1 passer last year who was replaced by Tensi.

Hadl, who had led the Western champion Chargers to victory in their first three games, couldn't get the team going in the first half against the winless but fired-up Dolphins.

Tom Janik, corner back of the Buffalo Bills, was named Defensive Player of the Week for his two interceptions and strong tackling against the Chiefs.

42,600 Due Back On Jobs At Chrysler

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. prepared today to return 42,600 workers to their jobs, pending ratification of an agreement to end an Ohio stamping plant strike.

The firm said it would resume production starting Friday at its Twinsburg, Ohio, facility if the United Auto Workers (UAW) union ratified an agreement to settled grievances at the Ohio plant.

A ratification meeting was set today for the 4,300 strikers at Twinsburg who walked out seven days ago over 14 grievances ranging from the quality of cafeteria food to alleged faulty brakes on lift trucks. Tentative agreement was reached Wednesday but details were withheld until workers vote on it.

Chrysler laid off the 42,600 workers at plants around the country because of the stoppage at Twinsburg, which is one of only two of Chrysler's stamping facilities capable of producing all body sections needed to assembly Chrysler cars.

The firm said it could restore full production next week at the seven assembly plants closed because of the strike. Most would be operating by Tuesday. Partial layoffs would be ended by next Thursday at five other stamping plants, the company said.

Columbiana Fair Time Fastest In 7-County Circuit

LISBON — A 2-13.2 mile in the 2-year-old trot at the Columbiana County Fair in August was the fastest for the event in the Northeastern Ohio colt stakes circuit covering seven county fairs.

The mark was set by EPO, owned and driven by Dr. Kenneth Buckley of Painesville, former Lisbon resident.

Circuit officials called on Galen Greenisen, a Columbiana County fair director, to present a timer's watch and silver service to Dr. Buckley at a dinner meeting Saturday night in Cleveland.

This year was Columbiana's first in the circuit. Other county fairs in the circuit are Ashtabula, Cuyahoga, Clark, Geauga, Lorain and Medina.

4 In Family, Girl Killed In Auto Mishap

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — A curve leading toward a downtown bridge led instead to death Wednesday night for a Springfield mother, her three daughters and another teen-age girl.

The victims were in a car that went out of control on the curve, before reaching the Limestone Street Bridge, and crashed through a guardrail into Buck Creek.

"We may never really know what happened," Police Lt. Foster said later. "We aren't even sure who was driving, but we presume it was the mother."

Mrs. Francis B. Wheeler, 40, the wife of a construction worker, was taken alive from the submerged auto but died about midnight at Springfield Mercy Hospital.

The other victims were her daughters, Marsha, 17, Debra, 15, and Sharon, 14, and Elizabeth Vulgamore, 15. The three oldest girls were students at Springfield North High School. Sharon was in junior high school.

The coroner ruled death by drowning for the girls. A ruling was pending as to the cause of Mrs. Wheeler's death.

Marsha was named a North High homecoming queen candidate earlier in the day. School officials described all the girls as top students.

A young man who lives near the accident scene, Joseph Jones, 19, went into the water and recovered the victims from the car. Firemen from a firehouse within a block of the bridge used mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to no avail, except in the case of Mrs. Wheeler.

Lt. Foster said witnesses to the accident said the car was not traveling very fast going into the curve. It rolled over as it went down the embankment.

YOUR CAR
By Al Green

TOUGH TRAFFIC COURT? IN MOULINS, France, a three-man police committee staged a crackdown on bad driving, and took away not only the licenses but the cars of offenders — made them walk home!

DRIVE SAFELY — YOUR SPEED should go down with the setting sun!

SCRAPEGOAT, THAT'S WHAT THE AUTO industry feels like. Statistics prove that of the 49,000 traffic deaths last year, over 36,500 were caused directly by disobedience to established traffic rules and regulations. That wasn't the car's fault — it was the driver's!

RELIABILITY? DID YOU KNOW MANY families have bought 12 to 15 different cars from us over the years? That's customer satisfaction! When you need a used car, be sure to stop by first at M & A MOTORS, 614 Broadway and 1600 Penn. in Liverpool and at 241 Wells in Wellsville.

ONE WORD HAD BEEN PAINTED ON AN OLDER car with an arrow pointing to a banged in rear fender. The word? "Hers!"

IN GREAT BRITAIN LICENSE PLATES STAY with the owner indefinitely. You transfer them from one car to another. A recent practice of issuing special plates with initials, slogans, etc. was halted. Now such plates command high prices, since only about 5,000 are in use. One man paid $14,000 to get NG-1 his initials! The A-1 registration plate sold for $7,000, and R-1 was advertised for $3,500.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Twenty-five persons were arrested and two policemen slightly injured Wednesday night in the fourth consecutive night of disorders outside a house recently occupied by a Negro family in an all-white section of North Philadelphia.

Once again, adults and screaming teen-agers tossed bottles, set off firecrackers and taunted blue-helmeted policemen, as they demonstrated against Mr. and Mrs. Leon Wright and their three children who moved into the neighborhood Sunday.

Ground Rule Double May Have Changed First Game

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Editor

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An over-eager baseball fan, probably a Dodger partisan, must wonder today if a careless act on his part might have played a part in the 5-2 defeat of the Los Angeles Dodgers by the Baltimore Orioles in the World Series opening game.

Here was the setting:

But Jim Lefebvre opened the Dodger half of the second with a booming homer to left field. Wes Parker followed with a scorching drive that sliced first base and skidded deep into foul territory down the right field line.

A fan then reached out and grabbed for it. That made it an automatic double. It probably would have been a triple had it not been for the illegal interference.

It looked now as if the Dodgers were beginning to get at the Oriole starter, McNally, who promptly gave Jim Gilliam a base on balls.

If Parker had been on third where he should have been if it hadn't been for the fan who wanted to grab a souvenir ball, he would have scored and that would have made it 4-2, still a redeemable ball game. Maury Wills struck out to end the inning.

He went out, however, in the top of the third after issuing walks to Lou Johnson, Tommy Davis, and Lefebvre in succession.

25 Arrested, 2 Officers Hurt In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Twenty-five persons were arrested and two policemen slightly injured Wednesday night in the fourth consecutive night of disorders outside a house recently occupied by a Negro family in an all-white section of North Philadelphia.

Once again, adults and screaming teen-agers tossed bottles, set off firecrackers and taunted blue-helmeted policemen, as they demonstrated against Mr. and Mrs. Leon Wright and their three children who moved into the neighborhood Sunday.

42,600 Due Back On Jobs At Chrysler

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. prepared today to return 42,600 workers to their jobs, pending ratification of an agreement to end an Ohio stamping plant strike.

The firm said it would resume production starting Friday at its Twinsburg, Ohio, facility if the United Auto Workers (UAW) union ratified an agreement to settled grievances at the Ohio plant.

A ratification meeting was set today for the 4,300 strikers at Twinsburg who walked out seven days ago over 14 grievances ranging from the quality of cafeteria food to alleged faulty brakes on lift trucks. Tentative agreement was reached Wednesday but details were withheld until workers vote on it.

Chrysler laid off the 42,600 workers at plants around the country because of the stoppage at Twinsburg, which is one of only two of Chrysler's stamping facilities capable of producing all body sections needed to assembly Chrysler cars.

The firm said it could restore full production next week at the seven assembly plants closed because of the strike. Most would be operating by Tuesday. Partial layoffs would be ended by next Thursday at five other stamping plants, the company said.

Tensi Named Back Of Week

Young Steve Tensi had never thrown a football in a regular pro game until last Sunday when San Diego Coach Sid Gillman called him off the bench in the second half against the charged up Miami Dolphins.

The 6-foot-5, 220-pounder fired up the sputtering San Diego machine with four touchdown passes that carried the Chargers from a 10-6 deficit to a rousing 44-10 victory.

This earned the 23-year-old taxi squad graduate The Associated Press' award as Offensive Player of the Week in the American Football League.

Tensi, a star of the Gator Bowl game for Florida State in 1964, clicked on nine of 12 passes for 223 yards and touchdown pass plays of 25, 44, 30 and 63 yards.

"Steve was terrific — he played a beautiful game," said John Hadl, the AFL's No. 1 passer last year who was replaced by Tensi.

Hadl, who had led the Western champion Chargers to victory in their first three games, couldn't get the team going in the first half against the winless but fired-up Dolphins.

Tom Janik, corner back of the Buffalo Bills, was named Defensive Player of the Week for his two interceptions and strong tackling against the Chiefs.

Columbiana Fair Time Fastest In 7-County Circuit

LISBON — A 2:13.2 mile in the 2-year-old trot at the Columbiana County Fair in August was the fastest for the event in the Northeastern Ohio colt stakes circuit covering seven county fairs.

The mark was set by EPO, owned and driven by Dr. Kenneth Buckley of Painesville, former Lisbon resident.

Circuit officials called on Galen Greenisen, a Columbiana County fair director, to present a timer's watch and silver service to Dr. Buckley at a dinner meeting Saturday night in Cleveland.

This year was Columbiana's first in the circuit. Other county fairs in the circuit are Ashtabula, Cuyahoga, Clark, Geauga, Lorain and Medina.

4 In Family, Girl Killed In Auto Mishap

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)— A curve leading toward a downtown bridge led instead to death Wednesday night for a Springfield mother, her three daughters and another teen-age girl.

The victims were in a car that went out of control on the curve, before reaching the Limestone Street Bridge, and crashed through a guardrail into Buck Creek.

"We may never really know what happened," Police Lt. Foster said later. "We aren't even sure who was driving, but we presume it was the mother."

Mrs. Francis B. Wheeler, 40, the wife of a construction worker, was taken alive from the submerged auto but died about midnight at Springfield Mercy Hospital.

The other victims were her daughters, Marsha, 17, Debra, 15, and Sharon, 14, and Elizabeth Vulgamore, 15. The three oldest girls were students at Springfield North High School. Sharon was in junior high school.

The coroner ruled death by drowning for the girls. A ruling was pending as to the cause of Mrs. Wheeler's death.

Marsha was named a North High homecoming queen candidate earlier in the day. School officials described all the girls as top students.

A young man who lives near the accident scene, Joseph Jones, 19, went into the water and recovered the victims from the car. Firemen from a firehouse within a block of the bridge used mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to no avail, except in the case of Mrs. Wheeler.

Lt. Foster said witnesses to the accident said the car was not traveling very fast going into the curve. It rolled over as it went down the embankment.

TOUGH TRAFFIC COURT? IN MOULINS, France, a three-man police committee staged a crackdown on bad driving, and took away not only the licenses but the cars of offenders — made them walk home!

SCRAPEGOAT, THAT'S WHAT THE AUTO industry feels like. Statistics prove that of the 49,000 traffic deaths last year, over 36,500 were caused directly by disobedience to established traffic rules and regulations. That wasn't the car's fault — it was the driver's!

RELIABILITY? DID YOU KNOW MANY families have bought 12 to 15 different cars from us over the years? That's customer satisfaction! When you need a used car, be sure to stop by first at M & A MOTORS, 614 Broadway and 1600 Penn. in Liverpool and at 241 Wells in Wellsville.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

I have been married for 12 years. We have a fine family and a comfortable home in the suburbs. My "problem" may seem so petty that it might even irritate you. But I'm going to chance it anyway.

Frank would rather take the train to town than fight the traffic. I like the idea a lot because the convenience of having the car all day is great.

Every morning when I drive Frank to the train all around me husbands are kissing their wives goodby as they hop out of cars. It makes me very envious.

Last week I came right out and asked Frank to kiss me goodby. He said, "Mushing it up in public is in poor taste and I refuse to do it."

I told him a husbandly peck on the cheek was not mushing it up. He said in his opinion, it was.

How do you feel about it? — KISSLESS FAREWELL.

Dear Farewell: It doesn't matter how I feel. Obviously Frank doesn't wan' to kiss you goodby at the station and that should settle it.

Be honest and ask yourself why you want Frank to kiss you goodby at the station. It's really for others rather than for yourself, isn't it?

I can tell you those kisses at the station don't prove a thing. If you think that every man who kisses his wife at the station is a devoted and loving husband, I've got news for you.

Twice Married

Dear Ann: Our daughter, Roberta, moved to another city to work and live with relatives. There she met the young man of her choice. They were married in a civil ceremony eight months ago and kept it a secret.

He is of the Roman Catholic faith. We are Protestants.

Two months ago they were married by a priest because his folks wanted it that way. Roberta did not convert.

Now for my problem. Roberta wants to be married by a Protestant minister in our church and invite all her school friends and all our relatives. We started to plan for this wedding two weeks ago. This morning she told me she is at least two months pregnant.

Should we tell people they were married several months ago, which nobody would believe, and that this wedding is just to please Roberta, or should we say nothing and let people talk?—DON'T KNOW.

Dear Don't Know: Roberta has been married enough already. Since she is at least two months pregnant I don't think she ought to have any more weddings.

Simply pass the word that a marriage took place eight months ago and if you discover a method to keep people from talking, please pass it on.

Confidentially

TO CAN'T GET OVER IT: You'd better. And fast. The energy you are expending on this hate is wearing you out and making you ill.

Probers Get 1st Breakthrough In Family's Murder

CINCINNATI (AP)—Investigators received their first breakthrough for clues in the Bricca family murder when a preliminary FBI report was released Wednesday.

Lt. Herbert Vogel, county homicide chief, said the report showed "the presence of numerous hairs and fibers of various types and colors in or on the bedclothing, the victims' clothing and bedroom sweepings."

The FBI investigation is continuing. Vogel said no racial determination of the hair has yet been made.

Several persons have been questioned in connection with the murders of Jerome Bricca, 28, his wife, Linda Jane, 24, and their daughter, Debbie, 4.

Vogel said additional persons are to be questioned and that some of them live out of state. He said his investigators were delving into the backgrounds "of persons who may be able to help us."

The Briccas were believed slain the night of Sept. 25. Their bodies were found two nights later, each bearing several stab wounds.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: We have just moved, and our new home has a recreation room in the basement. Mildew is forming on the walls and rubber tile floor.

How can we get rid of it and what will prevent it from reappearing?

J. C. ALLEN.

Dear Mr. Allen: Here is what the U.S. Department of Agriculture has to say about it:

"Mildew thrives in hot, humid weather. High moisture causes the mold spores, which are always present in the air, to settle and grow on shoes, clothing, furniture and books.

"The best protection against mildew is, of course, in its prevention. And to prevent mildew, you must remove its cause—the dampness.

"Because cool air holds less moisture than warm air, air conditioners are helpful. Dehumidifiers are useful where moisture is a problem.

"You also can fight off dampness by heating the house for a short time. Then open the doors and windows to let the moist air out. An exhaust fan will help force it out.

"To dry the air in closets and other small areas, keep a small electric light burning in the top of the closet. The heat will be enough to prevent mildew if the space is not too large.

"A safe way to keep a closet dry is with silica gel or activated alumina. These chemicals will absorb the moisture in the air. Hang them in a cloth bag from the closet rod, or put them on a shelf. The chemicals can be used over and over. (You simply dry them in a vented oven at 300 degrees for several hours.)"

Dear Heloise: I suggset putting a curb guard (ordinarily used on your car fender to guide you in curb parking) on the right inside frame of your garage door to aid you in driving into the garage.

Our curb guard sticks out about 12 inches from the door frame, and I put a small plastic bottle over the end so the metal would not scratch the paint on the car fender.

MRS. FARREN.

Dear Heloise: Did you ever try greasing the aluminum wrap instead of the turkey before you wrap the bird for the oven?

I find it less frustrating and have a more evenly greased bird.

MIL.

How much simpler to grease a flat piece of aluminum foil than to have to wrestle with the critter—turning it over and having it slipping and sliding!

Thanks a Mil-lion!

Dear Heloise: I keep a small plastic bag with me as a litter bag for used facial tissues. It is sanitary and readily disposable.

This is especially good at church, because sometimes the children use quite a few tissues before the service is over.

Dear Heloise: When your dusting powder is all gone, don't discard the nice powder puffs.

Wash them and give them to the little ones. They make wonderful erasers for the blackboards.

GRACE C. ARMENTO

Dear Heloise: We have a big farmhouse so, naturally, we also have field mice.

After several attempts to keep a trap baited, the varmints, I took a half-inch cube of cheese and taped it to the trap with transparent tape.

No more bait stealing, and I'm rapidly solving our "field mice problem."

Bitter Irony About Fighting In Viet

Next Hill Always Higher For Weary U.S. Marines

By PETER ARNETT

NEAR THE DMZ, Viet Nam (AP) — For the weary U.S. Marine battalions inching their way across the roof of South Viet Nam, the next hill is always higher than the last, and here is always another hill.

There is a bitter irony about the fighting that has developed in these remote, misty mountains on the border of South Viet Nam and the Communist North.

The hill the Marines fought for and captured one day may be back in enemy hands the next. The Marines keep pushing on to the hill ahead.

When the Marines move off a peak, North Vietnamese troops crawl back on. This military musical chairs could continue forever unless the Marines hold all the hills they fight for.

But there are nearly as many hills up here as there are Marines in Viet Nam.

The Marines took to the hills in an extension of earlier strategy that envisaged the annihilation of the enemy in the fertile valleys running up from the South China Sea. North Vietnamese troops were moving down into these valleys from across the Demilitarized Zone.

High ground fascinates Marine strategists. They saw it looming above the valleys and stretching in increasingly higher tiers across to Laos, and into North Viet Nam.

With the enemy thrown from the valleys, the Marines took to the high ground. It has been a long, tough grind ever since.

The 3rd Battalion, 4th Regiment attacked one ridgeline two weeks ago. The first hill, a "mere bump in the ground," according to Capt. J. J. Carroll of Miami each, Fla., proved a formidable obstacle of well manned bunkers and spurting enemy machine guns.

Carroll's company suffered heavy casulties.

Was every "little bump" in the region worth heavy Marine casualties? Marine strategists decided no. But they knew that at least two and possible three North Vietnamese divisions were scattered around the area.

It was necessary to push across the high ground, even if it meant holding a peak for just one day before moving on. It was just as imperative to keep casualties down.

The answer was air and artillery. The Marines began picking their way along the ridgelines behind barrages of high explosives that shook the ground and dislodged monkeys from the trees. Hilltop objectives cloaked in thick jungle were denuded by napalm and bomb strikes.

A score of B52 Stratoforts came over one night and laid waste a valley below Marine positions along a ridgeline.

Dangerous-looking peaks were blasted by air and artillery in day-and-night-long barrages.

In every hill there were enemy bunkers, scores of them, lining the mountain paths and dug into the peaks. As the artillery barrages increased there was less enemy resistance to the Marines.

One battalion commander has a bottle of champagne on ice back at his base, ready to be flown out and be cracked on the peak of the last hill that they have to scale.

No one knows when the champagne will flow. There are a lot of hills.

British Foreign Secretary Offers 6-Point Peace Plan

BRIGHTON, England (AP) — British Laborites twice voted today for changes in Prime Minister Harold Wilson's foreign and defense policies calling, against their leader's advice, for an end of American bombings as a first step toward Vietnamese peace.

The defeats came after Foreign Secretary George Brown outlined a six-point Viet Nam peace program, beginning with a parley at which the Viet Cong should have a seat.

The adverse resolutions appeared to reflect confused thinking by some of the 1,250 delegates who, during the same process of voting, overwhelmingly endorsed the broad conduct and aims of the Wilson government's foreign and defense policies.

Brown, from the platform of the Labor party's annual convention, called on Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko to join him at once in reconvening the 14-power 1954 Geneva conference which ended the French Indochina War and divided Vit Nam. The two foreign ministers are cochairmen of the Indochinese peacemaking machinery.

Brown, who flies to the United States Friday, said he will urge his peace proposals on Gromyko and American Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

As the foreign secretary spoke, scores of demonstrators demanding peace in Viet Nam paraded outside the convention hall.

In the debate itself speaker after speaker urged that the Labor government should dissociate this country from President Johnson's policies in Viet Nam. But this, Brown made clear, the government does not propose to do.

"I stand ready to convene this (Geneva) conference at any time," Brown said. "And I shall repeat my offer to Mr. Gromyko in New York next week and, what is more, go on repeating the offer until he feels able to accept it."

Brown said he detects common ground between the contenders in Viet Nam about the sort of settlement that should emerge. Both, he said, have shown readiness to base a new settlement on the 1954 agreements.

He suggested this basis of a possible Viet Nam settlement:

1. A peace parley should meet as soon as possible with the National Liberation Front of the Viet Cong directly represented.

2. As soon as peace talks are agreed in principle:

— The Americans should quit all bombing and should not resume again unless negotiations fail and the war restarts.

— Reinforcement of American and South Vietnamese forces should cease.

— Dispatch of North Vietnamese troops and supplies southward should stop.

3. High commands on both sides as soon as possible, and simultaneously, should order their forces not to initiate new attacks, as a preliminary to a cease-fire. The cease-fire should be negotiated by the conference at the same time it tackles a political settlement on the lines of the 1954 agreements.

This political settlement should provide:

— Free nationwide elections within, say, two years.

— An amnesty for all Vietnamese who took any part in the war.

— The newly elected North and South Vietnamese governments should themselves decide, without foreign interference, if, when and how reunion should take place.

4. The whole country should be neutralized, shutting its doors to foreign troops, bases and military involvement. In line with this:

— Americans and North Vietnamese should set a timetable for simultaneous military withdrawal from South Viet Nam, including the liquidation of any bases. This should be completed within, say, two years after ratification of a final settlement.

5. All the foregoing measures should be conducted under international supervision — and an international program should be launched to help repair the ravages of war.

6. A strengthened International Control Commission, with peacekeeping forces at its disposal, should insure respect and observance for the peace program.

The famous American general in the Revolutionary war, Israel Putnam, is credited with introducing Havana cigars into the American colonies. In 1762 Putnam served with the British forces in the occupation of Havana and later returned to Connecticut with a large supply of Havana cigars. His fame helped to enhance the prestige of the cigar.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: We have just moved, and our new home has a recreation room in the basement. Mildew is forming on the walls and rubber tile floor.

How can we get rid of it and what will prevent it from reappearing?

J. C. ALLEN.

Dear Mr. Allen: Here is what the U.S. Department of Agriculture has to say about it:

"Mildew thrives in hot, humid weather. High moisture causes the mold spores, which are always present in the air, to settle and grow on shoes, clothing, furniture and books.

"The best protection against mildew is, of course, in its prevention. And to prevent mildew, you must remove its cause—the dampness.

"You also can fight off dampness by heating the house for a short time. Then open the doors and windows to let the moist air out. An exhaust fan will help force it out.

"To dry the air in closets and other small areas, keep a small electric light burning in the top of the closet. The heat will be enough to prevent mildew if the space is not too large.

"A safe way to keep a closet dry is with silica gel or activated alumina. These chemicals will absorb the moisture in the air. Hang them in a cloth bag from the closet rod, or put them on a shelf. The chemicals can be used over and over. (You simply dry them in a vented oven at 300 degrees for several hours.)"

Dear Heloise: I suggset putting a curb guard (ordinarily used on your car fender to guide you in curb parking) on the right inside frame of your garage door to aid you in driving into the garage.

Our curb guard sticks out about 12 inches from the door frame, and I put a small plastic bottle over the end so the metal would not scratch the paint on the car fender.

MRS. FARREN.

Dear Heloise: Did you ever try greasing the aluminum wrap instead of the turkey before you wrap the bird for the oven?

I find it less frustrating and have a more evenly greased bird.

MIL.

How much simpler to grease a flat piece of aluminum foil than to have to wrestle with the critter—turning it over and having it slipping and sliding! Thanks a Mil-lion!

HELOISE.

Dear Heloise: I keep a small plastic bag with me as a litter bag for used facial tissues. It is sanitary and readily disposable.

Dear Heloise: When your dusting powder is all gone, don't discard the nice powder puffs.

Wash them and give them to the little ones. They make wonderful erasers for the blackboards.

GRACE C. ARMENTO.

Dear Heloise: We have a big farmhouse so, naturally, we also have field mice.

After several attempts to keep a trap baited, the varmints, I took a half-inch cube of cheese and taped it to the trap with transparent tape.

No more bait stealing, and I'm rapidly solving our "field mice problem."

Bitter Irony About Fighting In Viet

Next Hill Always Higher For Weary U.S. Marines

By PETER ARNETT

NEAR THE DMZ, Viet Nam (AP) — For the weary U.S. Marine battalions inching their way across the roof of South Viet Nam, the next hill is always higher than the last, and here is always another hill.

There is a bitter irony about the fighting that has developed in these remote, misty mountains on the border of South Viet Nam and the Communist North.

The hill the Marines fought for and captured one day may be back in enemy hands the next. The Marines keep pushing on to the hill ahead.

When the Marines move off a peak, North Vietnamese troops crawl back on. This military musical chairs could continue forever unless the Marines hold all the hills they fight for.

But there are nearly as many hills up here as there are Marines in Viet Nam.

The Marines took to the hills in an extension of earlier strategy that envisaged the annihilation of the enemy in the fertile valleys running up from the South China Sea. North Vietnamese troops were moving down into these valleys from across the Demilitarized Zone.

High ground fascinates Marine strategists. They saw it looming above the valleys and stretching in increasingly higher tiers across to Laos, and into North Viet Nam.

With the enemy thrown from the valleys, the Marines took to the high ground. It has been a long, tough grind ever since.

The 3rd Battalion, 4th Regiment attacked one ridgeline two weeks ago. The first hill, a "mere bump in the ground," according to Capt. J. J. Carroll of Miami each, Fla., proved a formidable obstacle of well manned bunkers and spurting enemy machine guns.

Carroll's company suffered heavy casulties.

Was every "little bump" in the region worth heavy Marine casualties? Marine strategists decided no. But they knew that at least two and possible three North Vietnamese divisions were scattered around the area.

It was necessary to push across the high ground, even if it meant holding a peak for just one day before moving on. It was just as imperative to keep casualties down.

The answer was air and artillery. The Marines began picking their way along the ridgelines behind barrages of high explosives that shook the ground and dislodged monkeys from the trees. Hilltop objectives cloaked in thick jungle were denuded by napalm and bomb strikes.

A score of B52 Stratoforts came over one night and laid waste a valley below Marine positions along a ridgeline.

Dangerous-looking peaks were blasted by air and artillery in day-and-night-long barrages.

In every hill there were enemy bunkers, scores of them, lining the mountain paths and dug into the peaks. As the artillery barrages increased there was less enemy resistance to the Marines.

One battalion commander has a bottle of champagne on ice back at his base, ready to be flown out and be cracked on the peak of the last hill that they have to scale.

No one knows when the champagne will flow. There are a lot of hills.

British Foreign Secretary Offers 6-Point Peace Plan

BRIGHTON, England (AP) — British Laborites twice voted today for changes in Prime Minister Harold Wilson's foreign and defense policies calling, against their leader's advice, for an end of American bombings as a first step toward Vietnamese peace.

The defeats came after Foreign Secretary George Brown outlined a six-point Viet Nam peace program, beginning with a parley at which the Viet Cong should have a seat.

The adverse resolutions appeared to reflect confused thinking by some of the 1,250 delegates who, during the same process of voting, overwhelmingly endorsed the broad conduct and aims of the Wilson government's foreign and defense policies.

Brown, from the platform of the Labor party's annual convention, called on Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko to join him at once in reconvening the 14-power 1954 Geneva conference which ended the French Indochina War and divided Vit Nam. The two foreign ministers are cochairmen of the Indochinese peacemaking machinery.

Brown, who flies to the United States Friday, said he will urge his peace proposals on Gromyko and American Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

As the foreign secretary spoke, scores of demonstrators demanding peace in Viet Nam paraded outside the convention hall.

In the debate itself speaker after speaker urged that the Labor government should dissociate this country from President Johnson's policies in Viet Nam. But this, Brown made clear, the government does not propose to do.

"I stand ready to convene this (Geneva) conference at any time," Brown said. "And I shall repeat my offer to Mr. Gromyko in New York next week and, what is more, go on repeating the offer until he feels able to accept it."

Brown said he detects common ground between the contenders in Viet Nam about the sort of settlement that should emerge. Both, he said, have shown readiness to base a new settlement on the 1954 agreements.

He suggested this basis of a possible Viet Nam settlement:

1. A peace parley should meet as soon as possible with the National Liberation Front of the Viet Cong directly represented.

2. As soon as peace talks are agreed in principle:

— The Americans should quit all bombing and should not resume again unless negotiations fail and the war restarts.

— Reinforcement of American and South Vietnamese forces should cease.

— Dispatch of North Vietnamese troops and supplies southward should stop.

3. High commands on both sides as soon as possible, and simultaneously, should order their forces not to initiate new attacks, as a preliminary to a cease-fire. The cease-fire should be negotiated by the conference at the same time it tackles a political settlement on the lines of the 1954 agreements.

This political settlement should provide:

— Free nationwide elections within, say, two years.

— An amnesty for all Vietnamese who took any part in the war.

— The newly elected North and South Vietnamese governments should themselves decide, without foreign interference, if, when and how reunion should take place.

4. The whole country should be neutralized, shutting its doors to foreign troops, bases and military involvement. In line with this:

— Americans and North Vietnamese should set a timetable for simultaneous military withdrawal from South Viet Nam, including the liquidation of any bases. This should be completed within, say, two years after ratification of a final settlement.

5. All the foregoing measures should be conducted under international supervision — and an international program should be launched to help repair the ravages of war.

6. A strengthened International Control Commission, with peacekeeping forces at its disposal, should insure respect and observance for the peace program.

2 IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my Father William Hockenberry who passed away October 6, 1964.
Time cannot steal the treasures
That we carry in our hearts.
Nor ever dim the shining thoughts
Our cherished past imparts.
And memories of the ones we've
Loved Still cast their gentle glow

A Junior Editors Quiz About BUTTERFLIES

QUESTION: How do caterpillars change into butterflies or moths?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Butterflies and moths are in the adult stage of life. Before that, they were larvae or caterpillars, and before that, they are eggs. It is in the caterpillar stage that the insect does all its growing, its powerful jaws enable it to eat plant food voraciously. It must store up tissue material to be used when it turns into an adult. Soon it outgrows its original size. The skin splits, and the caterpillar crawls out and goes on growing. After shedding a number of skins and reaching full size, the larva is ready for the remarkable change which will turn it into an adult. It constructs a hard shell around itself, the pupa, inside of which the body structures of the adult can replace those of the caterpillar. Sometimes, the pupa is enclosed in a silken cocoon (2) in which the larva may hibernate through the winter, although certain kinds may pass the winter in the caterpillar stage, building a cocoon in the spring. When the time is right, the pupa and its cocoon split open. Out crawls a magnificent moth or butterfly, ready to spread its wings and fly away in search of a mate. Then eggs will be laid; the cycle will start over again.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Try to find a cocoon. Take it indoors and keep it to see what happens.
